3 Killed, 18 Wounded In Violence

Miami's Riot-Torn Areas Reported 'Under Control'

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Miami's riot-torn black areas, where three Negroes were shot to death and 18 persons wounded during looting and burning, was reported by the sheriff's office today to be "under firm control."

But a National Guard force equipped with everything from shotguns to flamethrowers stuck to its guns in the "occupied territory," ready to move back into action at the first sign of new flareups.

"We are standing by," said a Guard spokesman, "waiting to find out what they are going to do. Then we'll make our own move."

First Violence In Years

In the Liberty City district, where the first racial violence in recent Miami history broke out 10 miles from the site of the Republican National Convention, police Thursday faced sniper bullets and barrages of rocks and bottles.

Then they struck back. Two Negroes were fatally wounded during an exchange of gunfire at an apartment house.

Later, when a 550-block area embracing Liberty City was barricaded and swept by National Guard troops, another Negro was shot off a porch balcony in the Central Negro District to the south.

Sheriff E. Wilson Purdy declared a 6 p.m. curfew in an area bounded by Northwest 73rd Street on the north, the Northwest 36th Street Airport Expressway on the south, the North-South Expressway on the east and Northwest 22nd Avenue on the west.

Curfew Imposed

As the curfew was imposed for the first time Thursday night, National Guard troop carriers swept the streets, huge searchlights swinging slowly from side to side.

"We're going to clean these streets," one officer barked to his men. "We're taking no bull this time."

Later, a National Guard spokesman said that "once the sweep started, there was no trouble at all."

But, as the impressive show of force brought quiet to Liberty City, new trouble erupted in the Central Negro District.

Sgt. James H. Tombly, a wounded Miami policeman, said a volley of shots was fired from a rooftop at Northwest 22nd Street and Northwest 3rd Avenue.

E. Jest Cleveland, a Miami Beach car washer, was shot in the head and toppled from the porch of his apartment. A Negro woman, Willie Mae Grant, was shot in the left arm as she stood on the same porch.

Bands of young Negroes roamed the central district, smashing store and car windows, and shortly after midnight City Manager Melvin Reese also ordered a curfew for that area. By dawn, the trouble had petered out.

Two other deaths occurred during Wednesday's rioting. One woman died of a heart attack while sitting on her front porch. An unidentified Negro man found dead in Liberty City was reported by the medical examiner's office to have succumbed to natural causes.

After the shooting broke out, police cruisers roared through Liberty City, breaking up gangs with teargas bombs and arresting 148 persons. The charges including looting, aggravated assault, resisting arrest and carrying concealed weapons.

The looting and shooting began Wednesday after a meeting called by Negro leaders to protest what they termed "Florida's lily-white" delegation to the Republican National Convention under way on nearby Miami Beach.

Ampitheatre Shapes Up For Democrat Meeting

CHICAGO (AP) — The International Amphitheatre gradually is taking on the appearance of a political convention hall.

The rostrum on the north side of the Arena is shaping up to the hum of electric saws and the beat of hammers.

These sound effects will give way to the rap of a gavel when the Democratic National Convention opens Aug. 26.

Steel supports for partitions are being put in place in the north wing for workrooms for news services and newspapers. Workmen are plastering the walls of broadcasting studios in the south wing. Several telephone switchboards have been installed.

"We're right on schedule," said a spokesman for the Amphitheatre management.

"TV cables are up and in," said Francis J. Cunningham, business representative of Local 134 of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers (IBEW) and coordinator of the communications project.

"I can't say when we'll finish until they (users) get their final orders in," he said in an interview.

Original orders were changed in some instances because of a shift in main candidate headquarters and news workrooms from downtown hotels to the Amphitheatre.

The switch stems from the three-month IBEW strike against the Illinois Bell Telephone Co.

The union agreed to allow members to install communications equipment for news media and the party in the Amphitheatre, but nowhere else. The volunteers began the task July 25.

But the IBEW will not put in a telephone center the company had planned for the Amphitheatre, nor will the union members service the coin telephones scattered through the building. Most, if not all, of them are out of order. Thus, delegates will have trouble making personal calls.

Long Distance Stork Scoop

Don Chambers of 518 E. 5th St., in Boston, Mass., on a business trip, telephoned home to learn if his daughter, Mrs. Suzanne Bucher of Wellsville had become a mother on the "due" date. No answer at home.

So he telephoned City Hospital and was routed into the delivery room where he had just become a grandfather. Attempting to get switched to the waiting room to talk with his wife, he lost connection. He phoned again and finally made connections.

"Nothing has happened yet," his wife reported. "It has happened," he countered from 750 miles away, "It's a boy!" "How would you know?" she commented huffily, then learned how she had been scooped.

Agnew Rift Stirs Doubt Of Nixon's Unity Claim

VP Choice Irks Some Of Ohioans

But Delegates Vow To Support Ticket Of Nixon-Agnew

By DON BANDY
Asociated Pres Writer

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—The Ohio delegation began heading home today from the Republican National Convention with some members unhappy about the selection of the vice presidential nominee but vowing to work for the Nixon-Agnew ticket.

Rep. William E. Minshall, delegate from Lakewood, criticized the selection of vice presidential nominee Spiro T. Agnew, Maryland's governor.

"The people in Maryland don't even know him, let alone Ohio.

Minshall Raps Choice

"You might as well have picked the name out of a phone book," Minshall said of the choice made by presidential nominee Richard M. Nixon.

Agnew's selection was challenged on the convention floor Thursday night, but he won easily over Gov. George Romney of Michigan. All but two of Ohio's 58 votes were cast for Agnew.

Minshall voted for Gov. James A. Rhodes. Paul M. Walter Jr. of Shaker Heights voted for Sen. Edward M. Brooke of Massachusetts.

Neither Rhodes nor Brooke had been nominated.

Rhodes, who held on to his favorite son candidacy to the puzzlement of many during the convention, said his name was mentioned as a possible running mate with Nixon during a meeting with the GOP standardbearer early Thursday.

"My name came up in a group of names and I said 'eliminate Jim Rhodes'" the governor said.

Didn't Want Post

Rhodes said he did not want the post and would not accept it. It was not known if he actually had been offered a chance to run with Nixon.

"Being governor of Ohio is more important than becoming vice president of this country," Rhodes said.

John S. Andrews, chairman of the delegation, tried to talk Minshall out of voting for Rhodes for vice president.

"I'm not in it in anyway," Rhodes said, "I'm an innocent bystander." He said Minshall had asked permission to put his name in nomination but he refused.

Delegate Howard G. Young of Dayton said he felt a choice other that Agnew could have been made, "but this is what Nixon feels he wants as his runing mate and I feel we ought to go along.

Rhodes said: "This is the choice of the presidential nominee It's always been his choice."

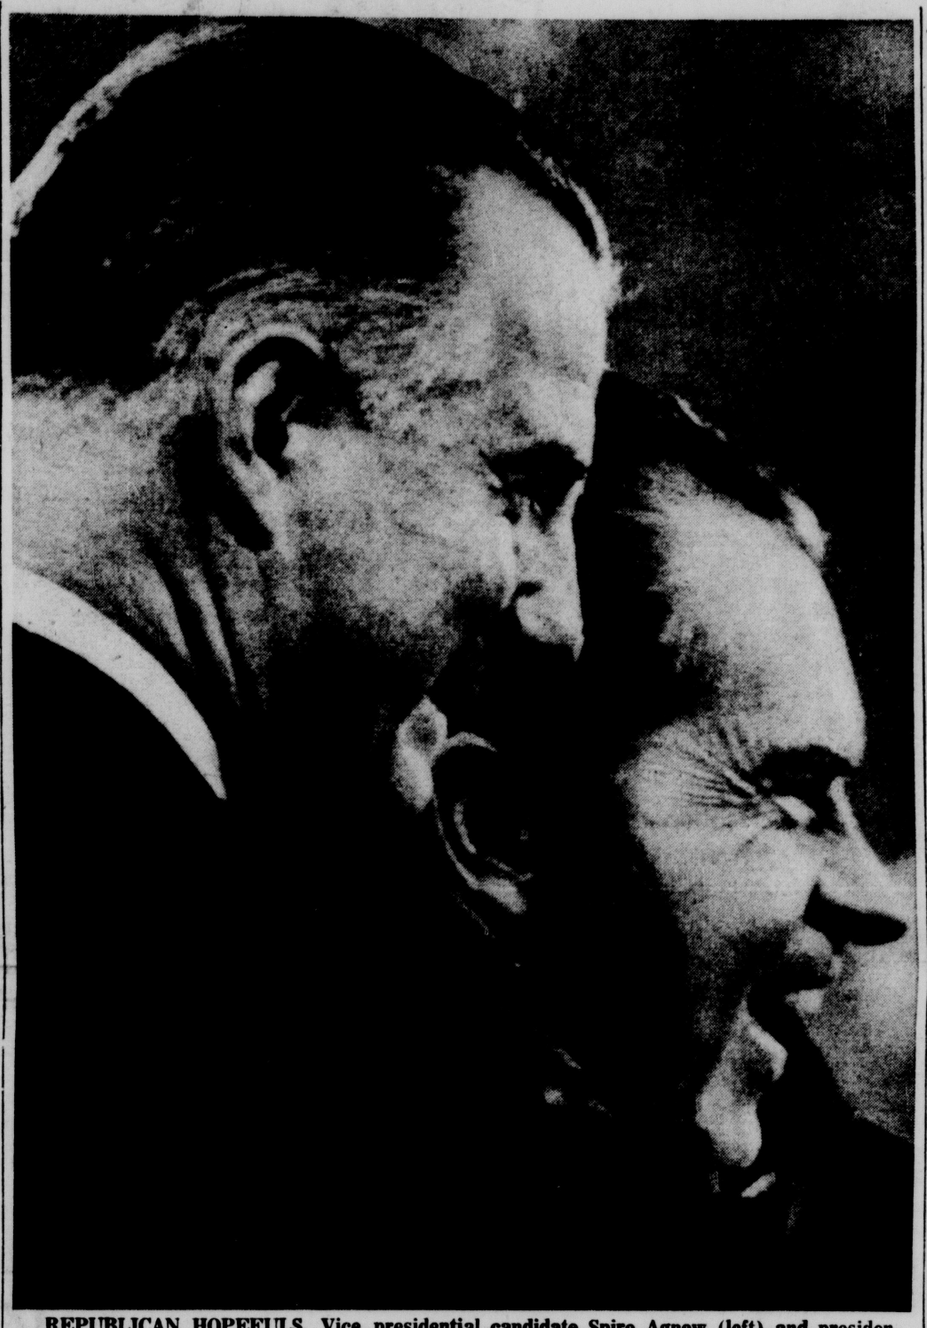

Rights Group Has Warning For Weirton

CHARLESTON (AP) — The State Human Rights Commission has ordered letters sent to Wheeling, Charleston and Weirton ordering a halt to certain policies described as contributing to racial disturbances.

The list was tendered to the commission Thursday by Human Rights Secretary Carl Glatt.

The practices include holding interracial dances without allowing interracial dancing, holding dances in public buildings but barring Negroes and allowing private groups to operate parks and other public facilities on a discriminatory basis.

Glatt told the commissioners he has documentary evidence that these practices exist in many West Virginia communities, besides the three named.

Nomination As 'VP' Won By Agnew

Republicans Send Nixon On Crusade To White House

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The 29th Republican National Convention, brushing aside a disgruntled minority, has sent Richard M. Nixon off on a November election crusade aimed at putting new leadership in the White House.

A step behind him marched Gov. Spiro T. Agnew of Maryland, Nixon's hand-picked selection for his running mate. Agnew's nomination provided the GOP delegates with about their only opportunity before adjournment Thursday night to register individual protest against Nixon's tight control over the convention.

Cast Doubt On Claim

The fact that 205 of the convention's 1,333 delegates were willing to go on the record in opposition to Nixon's personal choice for his No. 2 man cast doubt on the nominee's claim in his acceptance speech that the GOP "stands united before the nation tonight."

With some of the party liberals participating in what had the earmarks of a spontaneous revolt, Agnew polled 1,128 votes and Gov. George Romney of Michigan 178. Another 12 were scattered among other quickie candidates with 15 abstentions.

There was never any question about the convention's acceptance of Nixon's surprising choice of Agnew, barely known nationally except for his law-and-order stand and his tough lecturing of Negro leaders.

Sour Reaction Of Liberals

But the sour reaction of party liberals — or moderates as some of them prefer to be called — was reflected in the scattered voting against Agnew.

Had not Govs. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York, Nixon's major challenger for the top nomination, and James A. Rhodes of Ohio, a holdout against Nixon's nomination, ordered their delegatons to stay in line for Agnew there might have been an even larger protest.

Nixon got a five-minute ovation before he could start his acceptance speech. He was interrupted frequently with applause as he asserted in the course of his speech that "this time we're going to win."

The nominee, preparing to depart for Mission Bay, Calif., for a rest and strategy sessions, also nailed down his control of party machinery.

He gave the signal for the reelection of Ray C. Bliss as national chairman. Bliss declined comment, but there seemed little doubt he would agree to remain.

Primarily a political technician, Bliss stayed clear of the fight for the presidential nomination as almost no chairman before him had done.

Why Was Agnew Picked?

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

Man Who Would Least Hurt Nixon In Split Party

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Why did Richard M. Nixon choose the relatively obscure governor of a small state as his vice presidential candidate?

The answer is that he didn't necessarily choose the man he thought could help him the most when he picked Gov. Spiro T. Agnew of Maryland. He chose the man he hoped would hurt him the least in his divided party.

"No one could say anything bad about him," was how a key participant in the meetings that led to Agnew's selection put it. From this source and others the Associaed Press has pieced together the outlines, at least, of the making of a vice presidential candidate.

Began Before Victory

It began even before Nixon's first ballot victory in the early hours of Thursday morning.

About 20 minutes earlier Nixon met with his closest staff advisers in his penthouse apartment on the beach to start discussing a running mate. The meeting went on with an ever-changing cast for nearly 12 hours, with only an hour out for sleep by Nixon.

When Nixon finally emerged to say Agnew was his choice a shockwave traveled through the crammed hotels, jolting especially the followers of Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, who immediately charged Nixon with trying to appease his southern supporters.

The charge was denied by Nixon aides, but there was no denying the satisfaction that Agnew's selection brought to most southerners.

"The South got a candidate it can accept," said South Carolina Sen. Strom Thurmond, one of Nixon's most influential southern supporters, "while the big cities did not get who they said they had to have."

He was referring to Mayor John V. Lindsay of New York, Sen. Charles H. Percy of Illinois, and Sen. Mark O. Hatfield of Oregon, the favorites of the big city Republicans.

The basis of the charge of appeasement was Nixon's promise to southern delegates before the convention balloting that he would pick a vice president acceptable to all part sof the nation.

Heat Will Continue; Some Showers Due

There's still no relief in sight from the heat.

The five - day forecast says that temperatures from Saturday through Wednesday will average above normal, with highs of 95 to 90 and lows of 65 to 70.

It will be a little cooler early next week and then warmer toward the middle of the week.

Scattered showers are expected over the weekend and again toward the middle of the week, averaging a half-inch or more.

Palestine Loses 1 Plant, Set To Re-Open Another

EAST PALESTINE — Announced closing of the Natco Corp. glazed brick plant today was balanced by plans for the re-opening of a Royal China Co. facility and an appeal for potters.

Officials of the Glen-Gery Corp. revealed today the glazed brick facility will be shut down permanently next Friday due to a decline in market demands and outmoded equipment.

Mrs. Bea Miller, president of Royal China, announced the Sebring-based firm plans to reopen Plant No. 1, a facility of the W. S. George Pottery Co. which is no longer in operation.

Mrs. Miller said, "We have sufficient firm contracts to permit us to re-open the plant. We can offer long-term employment. We will need jiggermen, kilnhands, casters, dippers and others." She added, "We would like to get started as quickly as possible."

Charles Henderson, who has been in charge of Royal's operations at Plant No. 4 here, said anyone seeking employment may report to the Plant 4 office on Park Ave.

About 75 have been working at Plant 4, which has been producing stoneware along with some ware for the Sebring plant.

Royal began leasing the George plants in 1960 after the George firm closed down operations following a reorganization in 1958. Plant No. 1 has not been used by Royal for three years.

The Natco plant, which employs 99, was purchased in April by the Glen-Gery Co. of Reading, Pa.

From Democrats To Republicans

Agnew Changed Political Thinking Over The Years

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP) — Gov. Spiro "Ted" Agnew of Maryland, the Republican vice presidential nominee, has changed his political thinking over the years.

The 49-year-old candidate switched from the Democrats to the GOP in post-World War II days. In the past six months, he has gone through a re-evaluation period which he changed from moderate to conservative, from Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller to Richard M. Nixon, and from a position as an emphatic noncandidate to the second spot on the Republican ticket.

Agnew has more than two years remaining of his four-year gubernatorial term. He swept past Democrat George P. Mahoney in 1966 by nearly 100,000 votes on a liberal platform that included an open-occupancy plank.

The liberal stance was not new to the son of a Greek immigrant whose father changed his name from Anagnostopoulos. It was during his administration as Baltimore County executive that the county became one of the first in the country to enact a law banning racial discrimination in public accommodations.

"Let's keep Maryland in the mainstream of America," he asked voters during his successful bid for governor in 1966, as he called Mahoney a "bigot, racist, incompetent, menace to Maryland."

Mahoney campaigned on a platform deploring crime in the streets and with a slogan "Your home is your castle, protect it."

But Agnew's political posture changed slowly but radically in the last six months, although he told reporters shortly before leaving for Miami Beach, "I haven't changed."

"I'm standing still; it's just that others are moving more to the left," he said.

The switch became evident last April when Agnew rebuked Baltimore Negro leaders following the riots touched off by the assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

Agnew charged that they stood silent while outside militants fanned the flames of insurrection.

"And you ran. You agreed . . . that you would not openly criticize any black spokesman, regardless of the content of his remarks. You were beguiled by the rationalization of unity; you were intimidated by veiled threats; you were stung by insinuations that you were Mr. Charlie's boy, by epithets like 'Uncle Tom.'

"Somewhere the objectives of the civil rights movement have been obscured in a surge of emotional oversimplification. Somehwere the goal of equal opportunity has been replaced by the goal of instantaneous economic equality.

"The fiction that Negroes lack any opportunity in this country is dispelled by the status of those of you in this room," the governor told them.

Half of them stalked angrily from the meeting. All condemned the speech, but letters poured in by the thousands praising the governor.

And just a week ago, at his last news conference before leaving for Miami Beach, he said that police should not hesitate to shoot looters who will not surrender.

"If the general public gets used to the idea that as long as you can out-leg a police officer you can get away scot-free, the whole system of law and order will break down," he said.

Agnew, one of the earliest advocates of Rockefeller's candidacy for the GOP nomination, began to re-evaluate that position in late March.

Obviously disenchanted by the New York governor's on-again, off-again statements on his candidacy and privately miffed because Rockefeller did not let him know in advance of his March 21 news conference that he would again disavow any interest in the presidential nomination, Agnew began leaning more and more toward Nixon.

"He may—just may—be my number two choice for the Republican presidential nomination," he said in early April.

He hastened to add, however, that "I still think Gov. Rockefeller is the best candidate the Republican party can offer the electorate in November. But having someone who is not willing to become a candidate be the best candidate is no way to elect anybody. So I'm in the process of revising and waiting and watching to see what's going to happen."

He denied reports that he was playing politics, with possibly the vice presidency or a Cabinet post as his goal.

In an interview with The Associated Press during the Republican State Convention that named him as a favorite-son candidate, the Maryland governor said he would not "under any circumstances" leave his present office "until at least after the 2½ years remaining in my term of office have expired."

But he indicated privately that changing events might change his mind.

Agnew announced his support of Nixon at Miami Beach and made his nominating speech.

At a news conference in Miami Beach Thursday shortly after Nixon announced his choice of Agnew, the Maryland governor said he was stunned.

"I had no idea that this was going to happen. It came as a bolt out of the blue."

But he said he welcomed "the chance at this crucial moment in American history to be part of a campaign team to put America on a new level of progress."

Agnew, who stands 6-foot-2 and weighs 194 pounds, is an immaculate dresser who looks as fresh at the end of a 16-hour day of campaigning as he did at the beginning.

A practicing attorney before he became Baltimore County executive, the Maryland governor graduated from the University of Baltimore's night law school after a five-year interruption caused by World War II service in the Army.

It was after his discharge in 1946 that Agnew switched political affiliations from Democrat to Republican.

He married the former Elinore Isobel "Judy" Judefind in 1942 and they have four children, including a son Randy, serving in Vietnam.

ZEST FOR LIFE keeps Holly Schmidt, 10, of Saginaw, Mich., cheerful despite braces supporting weakened leg muscles. Holly, who takes special pride in her ability on the drums, is the 1968 National Poster Child of the Muscular Dystrophy Associations of America.

Canadian Is Charged In 3 Bank Robberies

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—Daniel Goniea, 45, of Windsor, Ontario, was charged by the FBI Thursday with three bank robberies in the past six months.

Goniea was arrested Monday as he left a branch office of the Toledo Home-Federal Savings and Loan Association with $4,000 in his hands. He also is charged with robbing the same institution June 12 and a holdup at the Westgate branch of the United Savings and Loan Association Feb. 1.

2 From Area Start Serving Of Sentences

LISBON — Vernon Kubankin, 20, of Hartley Rd., Salem RD 1, and Richard Thorne, 27, of Richmond RD 1, began serving sentences today in state institutions.

Kubankin was taken to the Ohio Penitentiary to serve consecutive sentences for:

Burglary, March 8 at Ivan's Exchange, 1019 Liberty St., Salem, 1 to 15 years; escape from confinement March 18 at the County Jail, 1 to 5 years, and perjury May 8 in a Common Pleas Court jury trial, 1 to 10 years.

Kubankin testified for the state in the trial of an alleged accomplice in the Ivan's Exchange burglary, Dennis D. Hunter, 18, of Salem, who was acquitted. Hunter was sentenced for escape from jail.

Judge Joel H. Sharp sentenced Kubankin July 18, but granted his request to remain in the County Jail until the birth of his first child.

A Common Pleas Court jury April 4 convicted Thorne of burglary Oct. 15 at Loblaw's Market on Dresden Ave., East Liverpool. Judge Raymond S. Buzzard denied his request for probation Aug. 2 and sentenced him to 1 to 15 years in the Ohio Reformatory at Mansfield.

Thorne's accomplices, Vincent M. DiMichele, 25, and Sam M. Shepherd, 20, both of Steubenville, pleaded guilty and were granted probation Aug. 2. A condition of Shepherd's probation was that he serve 30 days in the County Jail, where he is now confined.

Sheriff's Deputy Richard Koffel, accompanied by County Game Protector Ralph Drake of Lisbon, conveyed the prisoners to Mansfield and Columbus this morning.

Kiwanians Urge Area Observance Of 'Family Day'

Observance of "Family Reunion Day" Sunday, as proclaimed by President Lyndon Johnson, has been urged by Ronald Mason, East Liverpool Kiwanis Club president, and other Kiwanis officials of the area.

The observance has been official authorized by Congress as the result of a campaign cosponsored by Kiwanis International and the Freedoms Foundation at Valley Forge in an effort to promote family togetherness.

Families across the nation are being urged to set aside Sunday, Aug. 11, for family reunions.

The President has pointed out social and economic progress has brought new mobility which tends to separate affluent families, while in the slums, poverty stricken youths are growing up without the shaping example of a responsible male in the household.

Kiwanians are asking families to re-unite and act to insure a continuation of the belief that family life is the highest product of civilization.

100 At Meeting Of Citizens Here

More than 100 attended Thursday's session of the East Liverpool Senior Citizens Group at the parish hall of St. Stephen's Episcopal Church.

Mrs. Margaret Datwyler, vice president, presided in the absence of J. T. Cunningham, president.

A discussion was held on various bus trips to be made in the fall.

Mrs. Helen Davis received the corsage.

Mrs. Ann Osborn, director, announced that choir members are to be at the parish hall at 11 a.m. prior to the weekly meetings which begin at 1 p.m.

First U.S. vice president to succeed to the presidency because of the death of a president was John Tyler, at William Henry Harrison's death.

City Child, 9, Hurt By Auto

A 9-year-old East Liverpool girl is "fair" today at City Hospital with injuries suffered late Thursday afternoon when she was struck by an auto at Dresden Ave. and E. 9th St., then hurled underneath a parked car by the impact.

Dianne Kidder, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Kidder of 762 Woodlawn Ave. suffered a fracture of the right leg, multiple lacerations and abrasions of the face, right wrist and both knees.

Witnesses told police the child darted into the path of a southbound 1967 two-door sedan driven by Mary Ann Dennis, 68, of RD 2. The woman told Patrolman Dwight Garvey she was driving about 15 miles an hour and had just passed the intersection of E. 9th St. when the child ran from the east side of Dresden Ave. into the path of her car.

The details were confirmed by two witnesses, Raymond Oliver of 864 Oak St. and David Weldon of RD 1, officers said. The mishap was timed at 4:46.

Dianne told the officer she had gone to the store to purchase a loaf of bread for her mother. But she forgot the bread when she left the store and was hurrying back to get it, she related. The girl said she did not see the car when she started to cross the street.

The "Sky Atlas," with 1,870 photographs, if spread out, would form a map of the heavens as big as a tennis court. The collection, in its fourth printing in August 1968, costs $2,500 a copy.

Teamwork Is Essential

Win is the aim of the game, whether it's polo, parchesi or politics, and the Republicans have picked the team on which they pin their hopes for a victory in November.

Politics is not unlike the other games, for the most part. Contests at the polls are won by organization, by skilled, experienced and capable candidates, by professional planners and teamwork.

The Republican party of 1968, for whose success total unity is vital, suffered a minor divisive show of petulance from a few discontented followers to losers of the presidential nomination, those who thought they had a better idea of a running mate for Richard M. Nixon than Spiro Agnew.

Selection of Agnew as the GOP vice president nominee was a surprise for all, a shock for many on first reaction.

But the hard fact of politics is that the presidential nominee is "the boss" of the party from the 667th vote, and when he put the finger on Ted Spiro, only amateurs and the unthinking slipped into the error of deviating from the plan.

If Nixon could not be permitted to make the decision about his own ballot partner, how could the nation trust him with the crucial decisions of the White House? The Ohio delegation, which kept its promise to support favorite son James Rhodes for president, despite claims of aspirations as "kingmakers," showed its practical sense of politics by backing Agnew for Veep.

Republicans proved in both nomination battles they had an open convention. Nixon proved in picking a virtual "unknown" for the vice presidential nominee a willingness to ignore old patterns of political campaigning.

He gave a strong acceptance speech, a bit maudlin in places, somewhat vague about specific programs, but a firm committment to "new leadership" that revealed a forceful and inspired man who can put the Republican party upon a direct path to power in Washington—depending up the Democrat nominee, on national and foreign affairs changes in the next two months, on the acceptance of Nixon and Agnew by the independent voters of the nation, and on the fullfledged support of all Republicans across the land.

No Sign Of Settlement

From all outward signs there is no settlement of the Vietnam War anywhere on the horizon.

Talks drag on at Paris with little being achieved. The fighting continues to be hot and heavy in the war zone.

If military commanders are right, something is about to break that could change the complexion of the battling—and not necessarily in the direction many Americans would like to see it go.

RUMORS ARE RAMPANT in South Vietnam that a new and sizable terrorist effort is immiment and will signal a powerful offensive thrust against allied and South Vietnamese forces.

President Johnson stated recently that such a move could spell the end to the U.S. ban on bombing targets north of the demilitarized zone.

Much attention has been given to strenrthening defenses around Saigon. Additional surveillance measures have been taken and enemy routes are bombed constantly.

The military belief that a sustained attack is coming is supported by documents taken from prisoners, reports from informers and discovery of large caches of materiel near Saigon.

The general feeling is that the offensive will begin late this month or early in September.

On the surface, it looks as if Americans can expect an intensification of the fighting in South Vietnam rather than any progress from Paris.

THE INABILITY of the United States to extricate itself from this terrible war is an endless frustration to millions of Americans.

According to the Associated Press, the First American soldier was killed in Vietnam on Dec. 22, 1961. That means the war (even though it is undeclared) is now more than 6 years and 7 months old—the longest war in American history.

More than 25,000 American men have been killed and more than 150,000 wounded.

Cost of the war already tops the $100-billion marks and climbs higher every minute.

And, distressing as it may be, the outlook is for more of the same as the war goes on and on and on.

Good News

The news of the continuing progress of former President Dwight D. Eisenhower at Walter Reed Army Hospital in Washington is heartening.

The latest heart attack was the sixth suffered by Mr. Eisenhower since 1955 but the battling former General of the Army has his doctors pleased with his progress.

The beloved American military and political figure still is prominent in the affairs of his country. His speech to the GOP convention was his latest contribution.

Although 77 years old, "Ike" is valiantly contesting the issue of his health.

We wish him well.

Freedom Train Rolling

Results of the eyeball-to-eyeball confrontation between the Czechoslovaks and Soviets are difficult to interpret because each side has a different version of the outcome.

Evidently both sides conceded some points at the Cierna meeting and the compromise was endorsed by other Communist nations at the Bratislaga parley.

CZECHOSLOVAKIAN leaders have been telling their people the demoncratization movement will continue. Many Czechs are skeptical. They just can't believe the world's top Communist power will roll over and play dead just because a small, captive country thirsts after freedom.

Yet, Alexander Dubcek, first secretary of the Communist party in Czechoslovakia, told his anxious people, in a radio address following the conclusion of the Cierna talks: "We have kept our promise to you and we are returning with the same conviction that we took to the talks."

On the other hand, Soviets reading a front-page Pravda editorial are being told the Russian delegation was triumphant at Cierna and the Aug. 3 meeting at Bratislava found Communist nations taking an "important new step on the path of strengthening the unity and solidarity of the Socialist coutries."

From the point of view of the Western world, the Czechoslovaks pulled off a real coup in the meetings by not being intimidated by the military of the Soviet Union and standing staunchly behind their liberalizatim campaign.

What actually transpired at the secret sessions is known only to the participants but the Czechs had to compromise somewhere along the line to get the Soviet Union off their back.

As their part of the bargain, the Soviets settled for less than a complete victory.

Czechoslovak government leaders already have started cajoling editors to voluntarily "cool it" on press attacks on other Red countries.

TIME WILL TELL how far the Czech government is prepared to go in slowing the democratization process down enough to suit the Soviet Union.

One fact has emerged clearly from the Communist crisis. Some time, under some leader, Czechoslovakia will become the sole master of its own fate — the shackles of domination by a mother country will be replaced by sovereignty.

As Czechoslovakia treads the path toward self-determination, it will be sowing seeds of freedom in other Red bloc nations.

Nohing will be able to stop this process.

Wallace's Chance In Labor

WASHINGTON — Among the trend watchers of the major parties' anonymous strategic services, there are several bands of nervous (George) Wallace watchers.

Victor Riesel

Precinct by precinct across this country, the pencil-pushing sophisticates have been attempting to gauge the impact of his American Independent Party — and the camp of Hubert Humphrey is more startled, by far, than their counterparts over on the Republican side.

Apparently the hedge-hopping George Wallace, darting in and out of his national headquarters in Montgomery, Ala., has begun slicing into the labor vote.

This is a headache the Humphrey people need like a vest needs sleeves. They're not laughing it off, and neither are the leaders of the steel, machinists, auto, transport and building and construction trades unions.

No enclave is safe from the elementals of the AIP. Mr. Wallace. Bill Jones, his communications chief — as P.R. people now are called — and many of his local agents are claiming everything in sight, but that simply doesn't change the statistics.

THE HUMPHREY specialists had reckoned that so long as the third party seemed freakish and was polling an even 16 to 17 per cent of the national vote, the AIP would be snaring two votes from the Republicans for every one they snatched from the Democrats.

But now George Wallace has begun to hit the 20 per cent mark in some presidential polls. And to the Humphrey statisticians and intimates, that means the third party no longer is a freak, but is taking trade union votes from the Democrats.

Mr. Wallace doesn't sound so clownish now when he shouts that he has thousands of cabbies, steel workers and beauticians with him. He may have — and more.

Nor is there a comic ring these days when the political labor people hear that Wallace and his front men are claiming they'll pull heavily in New York, Detroit, Gary, Milwaukee, Chicago, Charleston, W. Va., Pontiac, Mich., Cleveland and Pittsburgh — in other words, the inner gut of American industrialism.

Mr. Wallace's attacks on black people aren't going to hurt him in even so militant a union as the United Auto Workres. Few recall that last May, at the UAW convention in Atlantic City, delegates virtually sat on their hands when the late Bob Kennedy took the microphone. There was Wallace sentiment in that auditodium.

NOR HAS IT been widely reported that on May 9, when the late Gov. Lurleen Wallace was buried, there was heavy absenteeism at some Ford and Chrysler plants. At one General Motors plant there were demands for lowering the flag to half staff. The Ford plant in Atlanta, Ga., had to shut down in the afternoon. Chrysler's production lines in Newark, Del., slowed down considerably.

"Certainly that Wallace ticket will get a vote from some of our people," a top-level UAW official told me. "No question about that, since he's playing on the fear in the streets. Remember there was a real and bloody race riot in this auto town back in 1943."

Naturally, national labor leaders won't talk for the record. But the other day one fellow high in the building and construction trades unions hierarchy said he and his colleagues were trying to stop a groundswell:

"Our people just resent federal pressure to open unions which have operated on a fatherson relationship for decades. So we hear a lot of Wallace talk. Even if it's a small percentage, it's considerable when you realize the construction trades have 3.5 million members now constantly under pressure to open the job lists on the highest-paid work."

SIMILAR WOES are heard in the machinists and steel unions. They're for Hubert Humphrey and are ready to slap down any Wallace talk.

But it isn't as simple as that. George Wallace is getting his party on the ballot. What happens insile the booth could affect, and perhaps even negate, much of labor's campaigning.

Teaching Negro History

Courses Should Be Honestly Presented

American colleges and universities are beginning a belated but real effort to put the American Negro back into history. Harvard in September will offer a new full-year course on "The Afro-American Experience." The alumni magazines of Yale, Dartmouth, Williams, and Cornell in June carried stories on Negro demands for "black studies."

The Yale Alumni Magazine reported: "A joint student-faculty committee has drafted a proposal urging the creation of a divisional major in Afro-American studies. The committee, which submitted the proposal to the Yale College Course of Study Committee, is hopeful that the faculty as a whole will adopt the plan in the fall.

The National Endowment for the Humanities on July 16 announced that it was awarding $70,000 to seven colleges for summer workshops on cultivating interest in Negro history and culture. The sessions began at predominantly-Negro Howard University in Washington on July 22. Other programs will be held at Boston University, Cazenvia College, Duke, Fisk, Morgan State, and Southern University.

THAT THE NEGRO has been neglected in hisotry as it is taught in our secondary and tertiary schools has been a familiar cry in student demonstrations in recent months.

Certainly the Negro has been overlooked or misrepresented in textbooks. As recently as 1940, The Growth of the American Republic, a widely used text by Samuel Eliot Morison and Henry Steele Commanger, stated: "As for Sambo, whose wrongs moved the abolitionists to wrath and tears, there is some reason to believe that he suffered less than any other class in the South from its 'peculliar institution.' The majority of the slaves were adequately fed, well cared for, and apparently happy. . . . Although brought to America by force, the incurably optimistic Negro soon became attached to the country, and devoted to his 'white folk'."

But the neglect of the Negro in history is, in part at least, myth. Many who suffered a secondary schooling meager in quality knew by college entrance at least who Crispus Attucks, Phillis Wheatley and Frederick Douglass were and much of what they had done. The Negro soldier's role in the Civil War was no secret. One knew that Matthew Henson was the first man to stand atop the North Pole.

More to the point, what was not known was the now much publicized role of the Negro in the westward course of empire. Only recently has the cowboy Nat Love—Deadwood Dick—come to general notice.

THE REAL IMPETUS for a review of history has come from the increasing number of Negroes on Ivy League campuses and from a restiveness on the part of students at all or predominantly-Negro campuses. But if the new courses are to be effective, they most certainly must be honest.

The N.Y. Times quotes Martin Luther Kilson, Jr., Harvard assistant professor and a Negro, as asking whether the new history should teach that black power in the Republic of Haiti has been oppressive of the black masses. Should it teach black fratiricide in Nigeria? Or about the Negro slave traders who helped bring about 200 years of white racism in the United States?

"In short," Prof. Kilson said, "I would suggest most firmly that the Black Experience is truly nothing more than a variant of the Human Experience."

Election Issue

From now until election there will be lively speculation about problems which will emerge should George Wallace prevent either of the major candidates from winning a clear majority of the electoral vote. And, as indicated in more than one column three months ago, whoever engages in that speculation had better read over Amendment XII of the U.S. Constitution. Few Americans have read the amendment and of those very few seem to understand it.

An article by David S. Broder in the Washington Post comments on this subject. He refers to a proposal by Prof. Gary Orfield of the University of Virginia. The professor suggests that to avoid the danger and confusion if Wallace should deny either of the major candidates a majority in the electoral college, the following course should be followed:

"Both parties should agree before the election that if normal procedures fail, they will provide the necessary votes in the House to elect the candidate with the largest popular vote."

BUT THERE are no such things as "parties" which could enforce upon the members of the House in such a course of action. Each member of the House would be the sole judge of how his vote would be cast. If the professor had ever tried to get even 10 of the 435 House members to agree upon anything he would know that his proposal would be impossible to enforce.

However, no one can know "before" the election who the House members will be, and even if it were possible to get such a pledge from all House candidates, the presidential candidate who would have the "largest popular majority" could not be determined quickly unless there were a landslide. For the votes are not counted by a national authority. They are counted by state and local authorities, and in a close election fraud might well prevail in some states just as it did in 1960. Thus it might be months before the courts could decide the many questions of fraud and error.

And if the professor will turn to Amendment XII he will find that if no president is elected by the House by March 4th, the vice president, who will be elected by the Senate, will become president. And, since the Senate votes for vice president not by states but by individual senators, it will no doubt be the Democratic candidate for vice president who would become president for the next term.

David Broder in his comments on Prof. Orfield's proposal fills in some details but follows the idea of electing the candidate with the largest popular vote. He would have the agreement binding upon the House by putting the pledge into the two parties' platforms. But no House member is bound by his party's platform.

However, both Orfield and Broder apparently missed what Wallace himself said on a TV program two or three weeks ago. He said that the election "will not go into the House." This must mean that he will seek a bargain between the election and January with one of the candidates in return for his electors' votes. For he could control those people since he will pick the slates in every state where he will be a candidate.

Thus, it would come down to the judgment and integrity of the two candidates who will probably by Richard Nixon and Hubert Humphrey. What then would come of an attempted bargain with Wallace?

HUMPHREY would be a fool to make such a deal. He knows how that it would be much more likely that the House would elect a Democrat rather than a Republican, for in the past Congress the House majority of 28 states are Democratic. The Republicans have only 19 (three are tied and would not count). Hence, it would be much more difficult for the Republican side to get the necessary 26 votes in the House.

Amendment XII specifies exactly how a president is to be elected and any agreement by the candidates or resolutions in party platforms could not constitutionally supercede the language of the U.S. Constitution. Therefore, the only possible course would be an agreement by the two major candidates.

Thus if, say, Nixon had 240 electoral votes and Humphrey 230, Humphrey might induce 40 of his electors to switch and give Nixon the necessary 270. For between the election and the count of the electoral votes before the Senate in January, electors are free to vote for anyone. Or it could be vice versa if Humphrey got more than Nixon and the Republican would agree to give his opponent enough to make 270. And so, I be sure before you speculate that you have read suggest that speculation take it from here. But carefully the language in Amendment XII.

Teamwork Is Essential

Win is the aim of the game, whether it's polo, parchesi or politics, and the Republicans have picked the team on which they pin their hopes for a victory in November.

Politics is not unlike the other games, for the most part. Contests at the polls are won by organization, by skilled, experienced and capable candidates, by professional planners and teamwork.

The Republican party of 1968, for whose success total unity is vital, suffered a minor divisive show of petulance from a few discontented followers to losers of the presidential nomination, those who thought they had a better idea of a running mate for Richard M. Nixon than Spiro Agnew.

Selection of Agnew as the GOP vice president nominee was a surprise for all, a shock for many on first reaction.

But the hard fact of politics is that the presidential nominee is "the boss" of the party from the 667th vote, and when he put the finger on Ted Spiro, only amateurs and the unthinking slipped into the error of deviating from the plan.

If Nixon could not be permitted to make the decision about his own ballot partner, how could the nation trust him with the crucial decisions of the White House? The Ohio delegation, which kept its promise to support favorite son James Rhodes for president, despite claims of aspirations as "kingmakers," showed its practical sense of politics by backing Agnew for Veep.

Republicans proved in both nomination battles they had an open convention. Nixon proved in picking a virtual "unknown" for the vice presidential nominee a willingness to ignore old patterns of political campaigning.

He gave a strong acceptance speech, a bit maudlin in places, somewhat vague about specific programs, but a firm committment to "new leadership" that revealed a forceful and inspired man who can put the Republican party upon a direct path to power in Washington—depending up the Democrat nominee, on national and foreign affairs changes in the next two months, on the acceptance of Nixon and Agnew by the independent voters of the nation, and on the fullfledged support of all Republicans across the land.

HUMPHREY would be a fool to make such a deal. He knows how that it would be much more likely that the House would elect a Democrat rather than a Republican, for in the past Congress the House majority of 28 states are Democratic. The Republicans have only 19 (three are tied and would not count). Hence, it would be much more difficult for the Republican side to get the necessary 26 votes in the House.

Amendment XII specifies exactly how a president is to be elected and any agreement by the candidates or resolutions in party platforms could not constitutionally supercede the language of the U.S. Consiitution. Therefore, the only possible course would be an agreement by the two major candidates.

Thus if, say, Nixon had 240 electoral votes and Humphrey 230, Humphrey might induce 40 of his electors to switch and give Nixon the necessary 270. For between the election and the count of the electoral votes before the Senate in January, electors are free to vote for anyone. Or it could be vice versa if Humphrey got more than Nixon and the Republican would agree to give his opponent enough to make 270. And so, I be sure before you speculate that you have read suggest that speculation take it from here. But carefully the language in Amendment XII.

The volunteer fire department ambulance took Brown to the hospital. Police said he received abrasions of the right foot, a laceration of the lower right leg and contusions of the right hand.

Canada Ends Three-Week Mail Strike

OTTAWA (AP) — Canada's three-week mail strike ended and the nation's 24,000 postal workers began returning to their jobs Thursday after voting to accept the new contract.

Union leaders said 12,173 members voted to accept the new contract giving them less than half the wage increase the union demanded. There were 8,163 votes against.

The agreement provides for a 21 cent an hour wage increase retroactive to Aug. 1, 1967, and in October another 18 cents an hour through September 1969. The unions sought 75 cents an hour for 14 months starting last August. Postal pay had averaged $2.75 an hour.

The long process of sorting an estimated 15 million pieces of backed-up mail began late Thursday night as some of the postal workers began returning to work. They looked forward to a bonus of about $430 in retroactive extra pay.

The Post Office Department asked the public not to overload the system until it could be brought back to normal. One official predicted this would take until the end of next week.

Another spokesman said official and first-class mail service would resume today and all mail boxes would be cleared. An embargo on second and third class mail will last until the first class backlog is cleared up.

Arthur John Davis of Moore Ln., East Palestine, was fined $5 and costs for failure to wear protective equipment while on a motorcycle and Mary J. Barnhouse of Lisbon RD 4 was fined $10 and costs for lack of a valid operator's license.

Richard L. Hart of New Waterford RD 2 forfeited a $25 bond for failure to stop in the assured clear distance and John W. Possage of Lisbon RD 2 forfeited a $25 bond for failure to yield half of the roadway.

President Harry S. Truman signed the National Security Act of 1947, creating a Department of the Air Force and separating the service from the Army.

Union Plans Board Talks On Salaries

Officials of the union representing the East Liverpool school custodians, armed with a strike vote, are expected to meet with the board of education shortly concerning cusodians' salaries.

Lou Campbell, representative of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employes, Local 677, said negotiations will be undertaken shortly.

At a meeting of 20 of the local Thursday night, the employes voted 19-1 to authorize the negotiations committee to call a strike if an agreement cannot be reached with the board.

The employes discussed grievances of two custodians involving salary reductions.

School authorities said today job assignments filled by the two have been eliminated, and a salary reduction was directed.

Campbell said a meeting of the whole local, which includes city and school employes, will be called to discuss the union stand on proposed school levies in a special election Sept. 15.

Many Reported Hurt When Train Derails

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP)— A Baltimore & Ohio passenger train derailed on the Butler - Warren County line near here today and reports were that a large number of persons were injured.

They said the train had three passenger carrying cars on it but they had no idea how many persons were on them.

County Asks Renewal Of Levy For Retarded

LISBON — Columbiana County commissioners will ask county voters to renew a two-tenths of a mill levy for maintenance and operation of the mentally retarded school and workshop.

They adopted the resolution Thursday, requesting the County Election Board to place the question on the ballot Nov. 5.

The renewal would be for 10 years, beginning with the 1970 tax year. County voters approved the levy in May 1962, and renewed it for five years in 1965.

Based on the county's valuation before the recent reappraisal, the levy raised approximately $52,000 annually. The tax amounts to two cents on each $100 of valuation for tax purposes.

In other action Thursday, the commissioners voted to close the Courthouse afternoons on Aug. 22-23 for the county fair, and the morning of Aug. 31 for Labor Day weekend.

Commissioners for a second time held a public hearing on the Ohio Highway Department's request for vacating a 369-foot-long portion of Township Rd. 739 (Allen Rd.) in Perry Township. They granted the vacation.

Early last month, the Commissioners had a hearing and advised the state they would vacate the road when the state obtained an easement from Jay Bricker, a landowner affected.

Levi Kimball, deputy director of Division 11 at New Philadelphia, advised the commissioners their action "is not in accordance with the law," and asked them to hold another hearing. He was present yesterday.

The state seeks the vacation in connection with a proposed relocation of Routes 62 and 14-Alternate northwest of Salem.

Bricker spoke against the vacation yesterday, claiming it would lower the value of his farm. He said he would have to travel about three miles to get from one part of the farm to another.

Speaking for the vacation were Howard E. Firestone, president of the Salem Industrial Development Corp.; Gail C. Herron, president of the Salem Chamber of Commerce, and George W. Rogers, chairman of the Salem Highway Committee.

Typists Slower In Europe, Club Learns In Talk

Typing speeds for business office girls in Europe are generally much slower than those in America, Kiwanis Club members were told at the weekly luncheon meeting at the Travelers Hotel.

Mrs. Marie Stier, co - owner of the Ohio Valley Business College of Market St., described a trip she took to Europe in May, visiting a number of business schools in different countries.

Mrs. Stier said she saw classroom operations in the American Institute of Commerce in Roma, the only school in Europe which teaches Gregg shorthand method. All the others employe the Pittman method, she said.

She also said most schools in Europe are still teaching a two-finger method for typing.

Business in Italy are required to pay to the government a matching fund for each secretary's salary from which payments are made for sick leave and maternity benefits. Mrs. Stier said she saw very few young people in offices in Italy.

Mrs. Stier visited Switzerland, Austria, Germany, Denmark, Sweden and London. She spoke of unsuccessful plans to visit East Germany where she has relatives.

She said the average typing speed in Europe is about 40 to 45 words a minute, compared to the 70 or 80 words a minute of typists in American business offices. However, she said the office procedures are not so rushed as they are in the United States.

Mrs. Stier was introduced by Glenn Waight, program chairman.

Ronald Mason, president, announced the club will be host for a district Kiwanis meeting Sept. 11 at Vagabond Lodge of Route 30.

Wolfson, chairman of Merritt-Chapman & Scott, a worldwide construction-shipbuilding-chemicals firm now in liquidation, faces up to 14 years in prison and a $32,000 fine.

Convicted with him were Elkin B. Gerbert of Jacksonville, Fla., a Merritt-Chapman director; Marshall G. Staub of New York, president of the company, and Joseph Kosow, whose Boston financing firm was acquired by Merritt-Chapman in 1962.

The verdict was delivered by a jury of nine men and three women on government charges that the four defendants conspired to enter into a secret agreement whereby Kosow bought Merritt-Chapman stock on the open market, then sold it back to the corporation later at "an agreed price well above the market price at the time of the agreement."

The government claimed the participants in the deal made a $4 million profit. The alleged agreements were uncovered during an SEC investigation of the behavior of Merritt-Chapman stock, the government said.

U.S. Atty. Robert M. Morgenthau said that during the SEC inquiry of Merritt-Chapman's "buy-in" program the defendants agreed among themselves "to destroy documents, commit perjury and suborn the perjury of other witnesses."

Early in the eight-week trial, U.S. District Judge Edmund L. Palmieri dropped fraud and stock manipulation charges contained in the original indictment. He directed the jury Wednesday to deliberate only the alleged coverup, cautioning "this is not a stock fraud trial."

The panel found the defendants guilty of various maneuvers, including perjury conspiracy, to cover up the stock deal during the SEC probe. Wolfson and Gerbert were found guilty of actual perjury and the filing of false company reports in 1962 and 1963. Staub was also convicted of making false statements in Merritt-Chapman annual reports.

The defendants' lawyers moved immediately to appeal the verdicts.

A fifth defendant, Alexander Rittmaster, 50, a Merritt director, pleaded guilty to one count of the indictment early in the trial and became a government witness. He is awaiting sentence.

Wolfson Cited On 5 Charges

Financier And 3 Others Convicted In Stock Deal

NEW YORK (AP) — Louis E. Wolfson, whose financial dealings dazzled Wall Street in the 1950s, and three asociates have been found guilty of violating the Securities and Exchange Commission Act.

The 55-year-old multimillionaire financier was convicted by a federal jury Thursday on charges of perjury, subordination of perjury, obstruction of justice, concealing documents and filing false statements with the SEC.

Wolfson, chairman of Merritt-Chapman & Scott, a worldwide construction-shipbuilding-chemicals firm now in liquidation, faces up to 14 years in prison and a $32,000 fine.

Convicted with him were Elkin B. Gerbert of Jacksonville, Fla., a Merritt-Chapman director; Marshall G. Staub of New York, president of the company, and Joseph Kosow, whose Boston financing firm was acquired by Merritt-Chapman in 1962.

The verdict was delivered by a jury of nine men and three women on government charges that the four defendants conspired to enter into a secret agreement whereby Kosow bought Merritt-Chapman stock on the open market, then sold it back to the corporation later at "an agreed price well above the market price at the time of the agreement."

The government claimed the participants in the deal made a $4 million profit. The alleged agreements were uncovered during an SEC investigation of the behavior of Merritt-Chapman stock, the government said.

U.S. Atty. Robert M. Morgenthau said that during the SEC inquiry of Merritt-Chapman's "buy-in" program the defendants agreed among themselves "to destroy documents, commit perjury and suborn the perjury of other witnesses."

Early in the eight-week trial, U.S. District Judge Edmund L. Palmieri dropped fraud and stock manipulation charges contained in the original indictment. He directed the jury Wednesday to deliberate only the alleged coverup, cautioning "this is not a stock fraud trial."

The panel found the defendants guilty of various maneuvers, including perjury conspiracy, to cover up the stock deal during the SEC probe. Wolfson and Gerbert were found guilty of actual perjury and the filing of false company reports in 1962 and 1963. Staub was also convicted of making false statements in Merritt-Chapman annual reports.

The defendants' lawyers moved immediately to appeal the verdicts.

A fifth defendant, Alexander Rittmaster, 50, a Merritt director, pleaded guilty to one count of the indictment early in the trial and became a government witness. He is awaiting sentence.

The DOCTOR Says

By Dr. W. G. Brandstadt

Symptoms Differ With Each Victim

Q—What is the skin disease that appears in the shape of a butterfly? What are the symptoms and the duration? Is it a real disease or just in the mind?

Dr. Brandstadt

A — Lupus erythematosus (LE) is sometimes called the butterfly disease because of the configuration of the skin lesion over the bridge of the nose. It is a systemic rather than a skin disease and may cause swollen lymph nodes in the neck and armpits. Most victims have bouts of severe joint and muscle pain.

—:—

THE DISEASE may affect the retina. It may cause pleurisy, heart disease, peptic ulcer, nephritis and convulsions. No one victim, however, gets all of these complications. The disease is chronic and is far from being a figment of the victim's imagination or the result of a nervous upset.

Q—What causes LE? Is there any cure? Can it be inherited? Where can I get the latest literature about it?

A—LE is believed to be caused by a defective gene but the defect may show up in future generations as any one of the so - called collagen diseases which, in addition to LE, include scleroderm, rheumatoid arthritis, dermatomyositis, Hashimoto's thyroiditis and several others. Pregnancy sometimes triggers or aggravates this disease.

ALTHOUGH there is no specific cure, much can be done to control the disease if the treatment is started early in its course. Exposure to direct sunlight should be avoided. Surgery should be undertaken only if it is necessary to save life. Antimalarial drugs, salicylates and drugs of the cortisone group are helpful. For more detailed information you may write to the Lupus Erythematosus Foundation, P. O. Box 92, Wykagyl Station, New Rochelle, N.Y.

Q — I use an infrared lamp every morning for 10 or 15 minutes to relieve a backache. Is this treatment beneficial? Could its prolonged use be harmful? Is it necessary to keep the lamp 21 inches from my body?

A—This type of treatment is of value in relieving inflammation and soreness and is in no way harmful. The lamp should be kept a safe distance from your body to prevent burns—18 to 21 inches is sufficient and will still give you enough heat to be of benefit.

The DOCTOR Says

By Dr. W. G. Brandstadt

Symptoms Differ With Each Victim

Q—What is the skin disease that appears in the shape of a butterfly? What are the symptoms and the duration? Is it a real disease or just in the mind?

Dr. Brandstadt

A — Lupus erythematosus (LE) is sometimes called the butterfly disease because of the configuration of the skin lesion over the bridge of the nose. It is a systemic rather than a skin disease and may cause swollen lymph nodes in the neck and armpits. Most victims have bouts of severe joint and muscle pain.

—:—

THE DISEASE may affect the retina. It may cause pleurisy, heart disease, peptic ulcer, nephritis and convulsions. No one victim, however, gets all of these complications. The disease is chronic and is far from being a figment of the victim's imagination or the result of a nervous upset.

Q—What causes LE? Is there any cure? Can it be inherited? Where can I get the latest literature about it?

A—LE is believed to be caused by a defective gene but the defect may show up in future generations as any one of the so - called collagen diseases which, in addition to LE, include scleroderm, rheumatoid arthritis, dermatomyositis, Hashimoto's thyroiditis and several others. Pregnancy sometimes triggers or aggravates this disease.

ALTHOUGH there is no specific cure, much can be done to control the disease if the treatment is started early in its course. Exposure to direct sunlight should be avoided. Surgery should be undertaken only if it is necessary to save life. Antimalarial drugs, salicylates and drugs of the cortisone group are helpful. For more detailed information you may write to the Lupus Erythematosus Foundation, P. O. Box 92, Wykagyl Station, New Rochelle, N.Y.

Q — I use an infrared lamp every morning for 10 or 15 minutes to relieve a backache. Is this treatment beneficial? Could its prolonged use be harmful? Is it necessary to keep the lamp 21 inches from my body?

A—This type of treatment is of value in relieving inflammation and soreness and is in no way harmful. The lamp should be kept a safe distance from your body to prevent burns—18 to 21 inches is sufficient and will still give you enough heat to be of benefit.

E. Liverpool Completes Win, Rain Unsettles Colt Tourney

The East Liverpool Colt League all - stars completed their win over Hagerstown last night, adding a run for a 6-1 final.

Rain continues to plague the divisional Colt League tournament at Marion, and last night s second game, scheduled between Marion and Hagerstown, was postponed and rescheduled for today at 3 p.m. East Liverpool is schedule to play the winner of this game at 6 and a second game would be played if East Liverpool lost the first contest.

The weather forecast for Marion today was a 70 per cent chance of rain and the playing field was pretty well soaked from last night's downpour. If no more games are able to be played through Saturday East Liverpool will be declared the winner of the tournament and will advance to Riverside Park, Calif. to start play Monday in the Colt World Series.

Cecil Barker homered to close out the scoring for East Liverpool last night. The locals had led 5-1 after 4½ innings when the game was suspended Wednesday night. Randy McVay pitched two scoreless innings in relief of winner Hap Palmer. Steve Murray, who had a one-hitter in the regional final here, is scheduled to hurl tonight for Don Smith's club.

Orioles Keep Pace

Tigers Bury Tribe 13-1, McLain Gets 23rd Win

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

Many great pitchers have tried the climb toward the coveted 30-victory season in the last 34 years, and all have stumbled Now along comes Denny McLain.

The 24-year-old right-hander for the Detroit Tigers took the 23rd step toward the top Thursday night, and he shows no sign of faltering.

McLain breezed through a six-hitter behind a 15-hit attack that buried Cleveland 13-1 for his fifth straight victory, and Detroit's fifth in a row.

With 50 games remaining, McLain has some 12 more starts to take those last seven steps, steps the Tigers are counting on to help them wrap up the American League pennant. No. 23 retained the Tigers' 6½ game lead over Baltimore.

The Orioles kept pace by belting four home runs that ruined Minnesota 10-3 for Baltimore's ninth victory in 11 games.

In other games, Ray Culp and Boston tripped the Chicago White Sox 1-0, Washington slugged California 7-2 and Oakland bounced the New York Yankees 6-4.

The last pitcher in the major leagues to win 30 games was Dizzy Dean in 1934. Dean added 28 in 1935 and since then many have come close.

Hal Newhouser won 29 in one season, Robin Roberts won 28, Sandy Koufax, Billy Walters, Don Newcombe, Dizzy Trout and Bob Feller each won 27 and Carl Hubbell, Koufax, Newhouser and Feller each won 26.

McLain, who has lost only three times, seems to have a good chance to succeed where they failed. Along with a heavy-hitting club behind him, he has been almost untouchable on the mound.

The Cleveland run in the fourth inning was the first earned run off him in 32 innings.

Bill Freehan supplied most of the punch, hammering a three-run homer in a six-run third inning against Sonny Siebert, 11-9, and adding a solo blast, his 16th, in the eighth as Dertoit swept the four-game set.

Winner Tom Phoebus, 13-started Baltimore's home run barrage with the first of three homers that produced five runs in the third inning against Jim Kaat, 8-8. Paul Blair slammed a three-run shot and Curt Motton hit a solo. Frank Robinson added his 10th in the fifth.

Phoebus went seven innings before Dave Leonhard took over with two on in the eighth.

Culp, 8-4, was the whole story for Boston, hurling a four-hitter and singling home the only run in the second inning as he outdueled Joe Horlen, 8-11. The victory was the eighth in nine games for the Red Sox and completed a four-game sweep of their series with the White Sox.

Ken McMullen hammered two homers for three runs and Hank Allen stroked a two-run blast as Jim Hannan, 7-2, won his fourth in a row for Washington by scattering eight hits.

The Yankees were the victims of an umpire's judgment when pinch hitter Ted Kubiak broke a 4-4 tie in the eighth inning with a ground rule double that scored Reggie Jackson from first base.

Umpire Hank Soar ruled that Jackson would have scored, and allowed the run, precipitating a loud protest from New York manager Ralph Houk.

The Yankees once held a 4-1 lead built on Frank Fernandez' three-run homer.

Bridgeport's Hornyak Defeats Post 374 7-1

Allen Hornyak, all - state basketball player from Bellaire St. John', saw his team lose and was himself limited to well below his 42 points a game average when the Irish appeared in East Liverpool last winter.

Last night Hornyak got revenge of a sort, as he pitched the Bridgeport American Legion baseball team to a 7-1 win over East Liverpool Post 374 in the opener of the best-of-three series for the Ohio Valley Athletic Conference American Legion League title at Bridgeport.

Hornyak fanned eight and walked no one. He allowed only three hits. Post 374 scored first, in the second inning, when Tom Chambers singled, stole second and scored on a single by Gary (Mike) Caruso. A bunt single by Don Hancock in the seventh was the only other hit off Hornyak.

Meanwhile, Bridgeport touched loser Jerry Howell for seven hits and seven runs. The downriver team broke the game open in the sixth when five runs on four hits, a walk and two errors.

The second game of the series will take place tonight at 6 at the Colt League Field, with Bill Montgomery pitching for the home team. A third game, if needed, will be at Weirton at 6 p.m. tomorrow.

Wise Hurls One-Hitter, Allen's Homer Wins 1-0

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Strategically speaking, it wasn't the best of nights for managers Harry Walker and Dave Bristol. But there was no strategy in the world Walt Alston could use against Rick Wise and Rich Allen.

Wise pitched a brilliant one-hitter and Allen's 23rd homer gave Philadelphia a 1-0 victory over Los Angeles Thursday night. There was little Dodger Manager Alston could do about it.

But a bit of Walker's managerial maneuvering backfired as Pittsburgh beat Houston 4-3 and St. Louis shaded Cincinnati 1-0, collecting as many hits in one inning off Bristol's relief pitcher as they had in nine against his starter.

In the only other National League game scheduled Thursday, Chicago's Bill Hands shut out Atlanta 4-0.

Wise squared his record at 8-8, allowing only a bad-hop single by Bart Shirley in the third inning. The bouncer broke off shortstop Roberto Pena's glove. The young right-hander struck out five.

Bill Singer matched zeroes with Wise until the ninth when Allen opened with his 23rd homer, a long shot that landed in the center field pavilion at Dodger Stadium.

They haven't designed a strategy to battle one-hitters and home runs yet.

Unlike Alston, Walker had a fighting chance against the Pirates. Houston and Pittsburgh were tied at 3-3 in the ninth when Matty Alou walked with one out. After Fred Patek, who had homered earlier, struck out, Alou raced to second on a wild pitch.

Now Walker decided to walk Roberto Clemente, who has driven in 38 runs this season, and pitched instead to Donn Clendenon, who had 55 RBI.

Clendenon responded with a run-scoring single, breaking the tie and giving reliever Ron Kline his ninth victory in 10 decisions.

Denis Menke homered and doubled touching off a two-run game-tying rally for the Astros.

Starters Ray Washburn of St. Louis and Tony Cloninger of Cincinnati locked up in a brilliant pitching duel, matching two-hit shutouts over the first nine innings.

The Reds rallied in the 10th with Johnny Bench and Tony Perez stroking consecutive one-out singles. After Tommy Helms popped up, Washburn got Mack Jones on a fly ball, ending the threat.

Bristol, figuring Cloninger had gone far enough, brought on Clay Carroll. The Cards went down in the 10th but won it in the next inning when Bobby Tolan singled with one out and raced all the way home on Roger Maris' double.

Joe Hoerner, who took over for Washburn after the tough 10th, got credit for the victory and Carroll took the loss.

Billy Williams drove in two of Chicago's runs and Hands won his 13th game with a three-hitter over the Braves.

Williams' 16th homer gave Hands a quick lead and the Cub right-hander later scored two runs himself as Chicago regained second place in the National League standings.

Patek Returns, Homers, Sparks Pirates' Victory

HOUSTON (AP) — Freddie Patek is back and the Pittsburgh Pirates have reason to be glad.

The pint-sized shortstop, disabled for five weeks with a hairline fracture of the left wrist, returned to the lineup last night.

And he slammed his second homer of the season, both against the Houston Astros, to help the Pirates defeat the Astros 4-3.

The 5-foot-6 sparkplug said he hit a fast ball about waist high off loser Mike Cuellar, now 6-7.

Patek, was brought up from the Pirates' Columbus farm club earlier in the season.

He was put on the disabled list because of his injury and to make room for his return the Pirates put coach-player Bill Virdon on waivers. They said they want to return him to his coaching duties.

Patek started the scoring in the third inning with his slam into the left field seats of the Astrodome. Denis Menke tied it with a homer in the fifth and the Astros took the lead briefly in that inning when Bob Aspromonte walked and scored on John Bateman's double.

The Pirates added two runs in the sixth to go ahead but the Astros tied it again in the seventh.

In the ninth Donn Clendenon hit a two - out single scoring Matty Alou, who walked and reached second on a wild pitch. After Roberto Clemente was intentionally walked Clendenon delivered his game winning hit.

Ronnie Kline, who relieved left Bob Veale, picked up his ninth victory against one loss for the Pirates.

Schlee's 65 Leads Golf

By HAL PARIS
Associated Press Sports Writer

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Lightly regarded John Schlee finally has emerged from a long slump that could lead to a $25,000 jackpot.

"I've had a bad summer," the third-year pro from Dallas said Thursday after he blistered the back-breaking 7,180-yard Firestone Country Club layout with a five-under-par 33-32—65.

Schlee's sizzling round, which included eight birdies and three bogeys, equaled the course record held jointly by Don Fairfield, Bob Rosburg and Arnold Palmer.

The 6-foot-2, 165-pound pro carried a two-stroke lead into today's second round of the $125,000 American Golf Classic.

In hot pursuit was 23-year-old Bob Lunn, who posted an opening 35-32—67.

Three strokes off the par at 68 were veterans Art Wall Jr., Gardner Dickinson, Johnny Pott, 1967 NCAA collegiate champ Hale Irwin of Colorado and Lee Elder, the 1963 Negro Golfer of the Year.

Four back of the leader at 69 were Bruce Crampton, Don Bies and Tom Weiskopf, the year's leading money winner with more than $140,000.

Still in contention at even par 70 were defending champion Palmer, Nicklaus, who started poorly with a double bogey 6 on the first hole, Larry Mowry, Hideyo Sugimoto, Frank Beard, Bobby Cole, George Knudson, Masters champ Bob Goalby and former National Aamateur king Bill Campbell.

PGA titlist Julius Boros shot a 73, while U.S. Open champion Lee Trevino struggled to a 75.

The field of 127 pros and three amateurs was to be trimmed after today's round to the low 70 scores and ties.

Philadelphia-Detroit Tilt Called Off In Mexico City

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Pittsburgh is at St. Louis and Cleveland is at Los Angeles tonght in the openers for a four-day pro football exhibition schedule that was thrown into some confusion late Thursday by the cancelation of a scheduled Detroit-Philadelphia game in Mexico City.

The Eagles and Lions were slated to play in a Sunday afternoon game to be televised nationally in the United States. No reason was given for the cancelation in the joint announcements made in Mexico City, Philadelphia and Detroit Thursday night, but there was speculation the game was called because of student unrest that has plagued the city in recent months.

National Football League officials, along with the Lions and Eagles immediately began working on providing another site for the game.

Whether the game goes on or not, at least 12 others will. The long weekend winds up Monday night with the New York Jets playing Houston in the Astrodome.

Seven games are scheduled Saturday, including two more of those NFL vs. AFL affairs, and at least two Sunday games, perhaps three if the Philadelphia-Detroit problem can be solved.

The Rams-Browns clash features a meeting of the NFL's defending Coastal and Century Division champions. The Rams, who won their opener on two late touchdown passes by Roman Gabriel are favored by a touchdown, even though not at full strength.

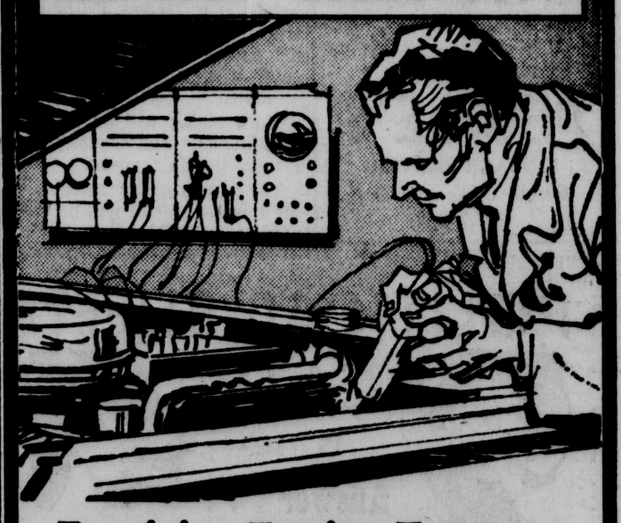

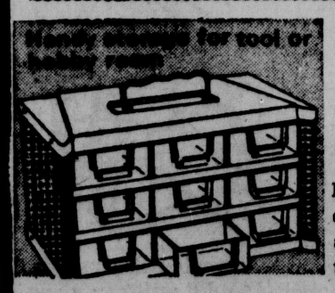

Defensive end David Jones and split end Jack Snow ended their salary dispute holdouts Thursday. They won't play tonight.

Young quarterbacks will be in action in the St. Louis-Pittsburgh game, Jim Hart for the Cards.

Pittsburgh Coach Bill Austin said Thursday Kent Nix will play the first half and Dick Shiner will take over. "We'll do it that way for perhaps the first three games," Austin said. "From then on, we'll play it by ear."

The NFL, trailing 3-1 in its exhibitions with the AFL, hopes to catch up Saturday.

E. Liverpool Completes Win, Rain Unsettles Colt Tourney

The East Liverpool Colt League all - stars completed their win over Hagerstown last night, adding a run for a 6-1 final.

The weather forecast for Marion today was a 70 per cent chance of rain and the playing field was pretty well soaked from last night's downpour. If no more games are able to be played through Saturday East Liverpool will be declared the winner of the tournament and will advance to Riverside Park, Calif. to start play Monday in the Colt World Series.

Cecil Barker homered to close out the scoring for East Liverpool last night. The locals had led 5-1 after 4½ innings when the game was suspended Wednesday night. Tigers Bury Tribe 13-1, McLain Gets 23rd Win

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

Many great pitchers have tried the climb toward the coveted 30-victory season in the last 34 years, and all have stumbled Now along comes Denny McLain.

The 24-year-old right-hander for the Detroit Tigers took the 23rd step toward the top Thursday night, and he shows no sign of faltering.

McLain breezed through a six-hitter behind a 15-hit attack that buried Cleveland 13-1 for his fifth straight victory, and Detroit's fifth in a row.

With 50 games remaining, McLain has some 12 more starts to take those last seven steps, steps the Tigers are counting on to help them wrap up the American League pennant. No. 23 retained the Tigers' 6½ game lead over Baltimore.

The Orioles kept pace by belting four home runs that ruined Minnesota 10-3 for Baltimore's ninth victory in 11 games.

In other games, Ray Culp and Boston tripped the Chicago White Sox 1-0, Washington slugged California 7-2 and Oakland bounced the New York Yankees 6-4.

The last pitcher in the major leagues to win 30 games was Dizzy Dean in 1934. Dean added 28 in 1935 and since then many have come close.

Hal Newhouser won 29 in one season, Robin Roberts won 28, Sandy Koufax, Billy Walters, Don Newcombe, Dizzy Trout and Bob Feller each won 27 and Carl Hubbell, Koufax, Newhouser and Feller each won 26.

McLain, who has lost only three times, seems to have a good chance to succeed where they failed. Along with a heavy-hitting club behind him, he has been almost untouchable on the mound.

The Cleveland run in the fourth inning was the first earned run off him in 32 innings.

Bill Freehan supplied most of the punch, hammering a three-run homer in a six-run third inning against Sonny Siebert, 11-9, and adding a solo blast, his 16th, in the eighth as Dertoit swept the four-game set.

Lalu Sabotin Leads State Publinx Golf

MASSILLON, Ohio (AP) — "My putting is lousy," Warren fire captain Lalu Sabotin said Thursday after carding a two-over par 72 in the third round of the 38th Ohio Publinx Golf Tournament.

Sabotin, whose first place position was shared with Bob Lilko of Youngstown who shot a three-under-par 67, has 67-72-72—211.

Lilko, tournament medalist, parred the first nine holes and birdied Nos. 10, 14 and 17 on the back side. He has 71-73-67—211.

Play at the Elms Country Club course was delayed for nearly two hours by fog. The final round is today.

Three men were tied at 215 in third place — Bruce Beck of Cleveland, Joe Brnich of Cleveland and Bob Barto of Youngstown.

Others still holding outside chances of winning included Alex Rotar Jr. of Canton, Jim Musille of Mansfield and Gary Schaffer of Sandusky with 217s; Leo Zampedro of Warren and Larry Weigman of Mansfield, at 218; and the group bunched at 219 that included Al Hager of Mansfield and Terry Grose of Findlay.

Schlee's 65 Leads Golf

By HAL PARIS
Associated Press Sports Writer

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Lightly regarded John Schlee finally has emerged from a long slump that could lead to a $25,000 jackpot.

"I've had a bad summer," the third-year pro from Dallas said Thursday after he blistered the back-breaking 7,180-yard Firestone Country Club layout with a five-under-par 33-32—65.

Schlee's sizzling round, which included eight birdies and three bogeys, equaled the course record held jointly by Don Fairfield, Bob Rosburg and Arnold Palmer.

The 6-foot-2, 165-pound pro carried a two-stroke lead into today's second round of the $125,000 American Golf Classic.

In hot pursuit was 23-year-old Bob Lunn, who posted an opening 35-32—67.

Three strokes off the par at 68 were veterans Art Wall Jr., Gardner Dickinson, Johnny Pott, 1967 NCAA collegiate champ Hale Irwin of Colorado and Lee Elder, the 1963 Negro Golfer of the Year.

Four back of the leader at 69 were Bruce Crampton, Don Bies and Tom Weiskopf, the year's leading money winner with more than $140,000.

Still in contention at even par 70 were defending champion Palmer, Nicklaus, who started poorly with a double bogey 6 on the first hole, Larry Mowry, Hideyo Sugimoto, Frank Beard, Bobby Cole, George Knudson, Masters champ Bob Goalby and former National Aamateur king Bill Campbell.

PGA titlist Julius Boros shot a 73, while U.S. Open champion Lee Trevino struggled to a 75.

The field of 127 pros and three amateurs was to be trimmed after today's round to the low 70 scores and ties.

Philadelphia-Detroit Tilt Called Off In Mexico City

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Pittsburgh is at St. Louis and Cleveland is at Los Angeles tonght in the openers for a four-day pro football exhibition schedule that was thrown into some confusion late Thursday by the cancelation of a scheduled Detroit-Philadelphia game in Mexico City.

The Eagles and Lions were slated to play in a Sunday afternoon game to be televised nationally in the United States. No reason was given for the cancelation in the joint announcements made in Mexico City, Philadelphia and Detroit Thursday night, but there was speculation the game was called because of student unrest that has plagued the city in recent months.

National Football League officials, along with the Lions and Eagles immediately began working on providing another site for the game.

Whether the game goes on or not, at least 12 others will. The long weekend winds up Monday night with the New York Jets playing Houston in the Astrodome.

Seven games are scheduled Saturday, including two more of those NFL vs. AFL affairs, and at least two Sunday games, perhaps three if the Philadelphia-Detroit problem can be solved.

The Rams-Browns clash features a meeting of the NFL's defending Coastal and Century Division champions. The Rams, who won their opener on two late touchdown passes by Roman Gabriel are favored by a touchdown, even though not at full strength.

Defensive end David Jones and split end Jack Snow ended their salary dispute holdouts Thursday. They won't play tonight.

Young quarterbacks will be in action in the St. Louis-Pittsburgh game, Jim Hart for the Cards.

Pittsburgh Coach Bill Austin said Thursday Kent Nix will play the first half and Dick Shiner will take over. "We'll do it that way for perhaps the first three games," Austin said. "From then on, we'll play it by ear."

The NFL, trailing 3-1 in its exhibitions with the AFL, hopes to catch up Saturday.

Rookie Turner Fast

Bears, Under Dooley, To Challenge Packers

By JERRY LISKA
Associated Press Sports Writer

RENSSELAER, Ind. (AP) — The Chicago Bears have two distinctive changes this season, which—plus the incomparable Gale Sayers—could menace the domineering Green Pay Packers in the National Football League race.

Energetic, intense and shrewd, Jim Dooley seems bursting at the seams to make a successful debut as head coach, succeeding Bear owner George S. Halas, who retired May 27 after 40 coaching years.

The other noteworthy Bear change is a Sept. 15 NFL season opener against the Washington Redskins at Wrigley Field, the first time in history the club has not played four or five road games before enjoying the home field advantage.

Dooley, handpicked by Halas from his staff, seems cut from the same football cloth as George Allen, another top Halas aide, who ired Papa Bear by leaving the Bears to become an instant head coaching success with the Los Angeles Rams.

Dooley, apparently given free reins by Halas, already has put to work his strategem of gung-ho, canny football. As the Bears whipped the Dallas Cowboys 30-24 in an exhibition opener last Saturday, Dooley blended the old tight double wing and balanced T.

He also has overhauled the Bear signal calling system which he said put too much burden on the quarterbacks and often "dominated their thinking."

The new system for signal callers Jack Concannon, who should be a top NFL gunner this season, Larry Rakestraw and Rudy Bukich, will reduce the mental work load about 50 per cent, Dooley says.

"New blocking procedures also are tied in with the new signal calling routine in the huddle and scrimmage line audibles," said Dooley. "Putting this together with new shifts out of new formations, you can see we are only getting started," said Dooley.

The experimenting with various formations is aimed mainly at enhancing the running threat of Sayers, perhaps pro football's most thrilling ball carrier.

"We hope to find a way to keep the defenses from stacking on Sayers," explained Dooley. "Previously, when he ran from the slot, everybody could unload on him. Now, using Gale as a middle man behind the center, a man-in-motion, or a flanker, we may keep the defense honest."

Th victory ver the Cowboys indicated the Bears may have come up with another superstar find in Cecil Turner, track ace flanker from California Ply.

Turner, fifth draft choice and NCAA college division 100-meter champion, scored on an 88-yard opening kickoff return and a 72-yard pass from Concannon in his pro debut.

"We drafted Turner as defensive back," said Dooley. "But as soon as I saw him in rookie camp, I knew he was an offensive steal. He ought to give the opposition fits back there with Sayers on kickoffs."

The fact the world champion Packers and Bears comprise half of the NFL's four-team Central Division underscores the importance of the Bears' getting off to a home opener victory against Washington Sept. 15.

Club President (George "Mugsie" Halas Jr., said the Bear players were obviously pleased with a rare home opener. "It could be a big psychological lift for the whole season," said young Halas.

The Bears last season finished second in the Central Division behind the Packers with a 7-6-1 record, compared with Green Bay's 9-4-1. This year the Bears play at Green Bay Nov. 3 and close Dec. 15 at home against the Packers.

Dooley has a strong corps of pass receivers, defensive backs and linebackers. But he inherits Papa Bear's old problem, a dearth of running backs and offensive linemen.

Turner and rookie Bob Wallace of Texas El Paso join veterans Dick Gordon and Jimmy Jones as receivers. At tight end is seasoned Austin Denney. No. 1 draft choice, Mike Hull of Southern California, was tabbed at tight end.

But Hull may be diverted to his Trojan post, fullback, to bolster the running back department where Ronnie Bull, Ralph Kurek, Brian Piccolo and Andy Livingston still are trying to help out work-horse Sayers.

Linebackers Dick Butkus, Doug Buffone, Mike Reilly and Jim Purnell, and secondary backs Bernie McRae, Rosey Taylor, Richie Petitbon and Curtiss Gentry provide a fine defensive corps beyond the line.

Strong defensive linemen are 285-pound Frank Cornish, Dick Evey, Ed O'Bradovich and Loyd Phillips.

However, the offensive linemen including Bob Pickens, Bob Wetoska, Randy Jackson, rookie Wayne Mass of Clemson, Mike Pyle, George Seals and Jim Cadile seem faced with the biggest challenge.

Montreal Park Site Found

MONTREAL (AP) — Montreal received encouraging news Thursday night when it was announced the city and sponsors of the proposed National League baseball expansion team had reached an agreement on the site of a temporary stadium.

Montreal Mayor Jean Drapeau emerged from a marathon four-hour meeting with sponsors, city officials and a high-ranking baseball representative and issued a brief one-minute statement to waiting reporters.

"After many hours of meetings I am pleased to inform everyone that we have succeeded in reaching a formula of agreement feasible to both parties," the mayor said.

He said the agreement "implies the use of Jarry Park stadium," a huge city-owned and operated park located in the north end of Montreal.

"The city will bring the stadium up to National League standards," Mayor Drapeau said in his hand-written statement, which he read in French first and then translated into English.

He closed his brief statement by saying that further information would be made public "during the coming week."

Before making his speech, the mayor insisted that neither he nor anyone connected with Thursday night's meeting be asked any questions following his statement.

Sitting in on Thursday's meeting along with the mayor were Georges Mantha, director of Montreal's parks and playgrounds; Charles Bronfman, Sidney Maislin and Lorne Webster, sponsors of the proposed club; Gerry Snyder, vice-chairman of the city's executive committee; and John McHale, administrator in Baseball Commissioner William D. Eckert's office.

Warren Giles, president of the National League who attended all-day meetings at City Hall Wednesday, visited Jarry Park Wednesday night with McHale and Mayor Drapeau instead of returning to New York as he said he would do.

Giles returned to New York early Thursday morning but McHale remained in Montreal all day and sat in on Thursday night's marathon meeting.

The current seating capacity of the ball stadium at the enormous Jarry Park site is only 3,000 but would be expanded to about 30,000 to meet the requirements of the league.

The park, used by various city junior baseball leagues, is about 20 square city blocks in area and currently has parking facilities for about 2,600 cars.

It is located seven blocks from the nearest subway station, is serviced by city bus routes and is adjacent to a railway station.

The plan to use Jarry Park as a temporary stadium until a new stadium, possibly a domed stadium, appears to have revived the dying franchise which the city received May 27.

Dark Mirage Will Miss Alabama 'Cap

By ED SCHUYLER Jr.
Associated Press Sports Writer

Three-year-old fillies will be Alabama bound Saturday, and it will be a rewarding trip for one of them because Dark Mirage, Lloyd I. Miller's miniature express, is temporarily sidetracked.

Dark Mirage suffered a bruise on the outside of her right forefoot Thursday and will not run in the 1¼-mile, $50,000-added Alabama at Saratoga.

Among those expected to go in the Alabama are Heartland, Taste, Gay Matelda and Miss Ribot.

Also on Saturday's national program are the $50,000-added William duPont Jr. Handicap on closing day at Delaware Park, the $40,000-added Laurance Armour Handicap at Arlington Park, the $25,000-added Margate Handicap for fillies and mares at Atlantic City, the $20,000-added White Mountain Handicap at Rockingham Park and the $15,000-added La Jolla Mile at Del Mar.

Bigger Than North

South Seeks 3rd Straight Ohio All-Star Grid Win

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — The South squad will be seeking its third straight victory when scholastic standouts from northern and southern Ohio meet tonight in the 23rd annual North-South All-Star Football Game at Fawcett Stadium.

The southern contingent won 40-12 last year in the most lopsided game in the history of the series. Altogether, the South has won 11 times to nine for the North, and there have been two ties.

Bill Wilkins, who coached Shelby High to an undefeated season last year, is mentor of the North squad. He says he has been impressed by the way his charges have looked in workouts depite the heat and humidity of the last few days.

But he noted that the South "is bigger and has good talent."

If the North is to win, Wilkins declared, "we will have to outquick them and block and tackle well."

Wilkins singled out halfback Tom Campana from Kent Roosevelt and quarterback Don Lamka from Cleveland South for praise.

Key men on the line, Wilkins said, will be tackles Steve Betz of Minerva and Tom Houser of Massillon.

Dick Haines of Dover High, also undefeated last year, is coach of the South squad. He said the South will count on passing for a major portion of its offense, especially if the heat wave continues.

Handling the passing will be quarterbacks John Motil of Columbus Watterson and Mike Heizman of Colerain. The South also has a couple of outstanding backs in Harry Howard of Cincinnati Princeton, the team co-captain, and Don Osby from Steubenville. Fullbacks are Greg Harvey of Cincinnati Princeton and Dave Lowe of Zanesville. Chuck Pater from Hamilton Garfield is the other South co-captain.

Nevele Pride Easily Wins Yonkers Trot

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

YONKER,S N.Y. (AP) — That Hambletonian jinx of Stanley Dancer's will have to work overtime this year to keep the famed harness racing driver from sweeping trotting's Triple Crown.

The reason is simple. Dancer will be driving Nevele Pride, a 3-year-old colt hailed as the best trotter in the United States and "just a big frisky kid" who hasn't yet reached his full potential.

Dancer never has won the Hambletonian, sometimes called the Kentucky Derby of the sulky set, but if he misses this year with Nevele Pride it would be the greatest upset in trotting history.

Nevele Pride and Dancer easily took the first leg of the trotting Triple Crown with an easy victory in the $150,000 Yonkers Trot at Yonkers Raceway Thursday night.

Dancer merely hand-urged the son of Star's Pride-Thankful to a 2:03 3-5 mile for his 18th straight victory, 10-in-10 this year, and 36th triumph in 39 starts.

The first prize of $82,500 in the non-betting race upped Nevele Pride's earnings for the year to $224,362. Added to the $222,923 he won last year as a 2-year-old colt has earned $447,285 for co-owners Lou Resnick and the Slutsky family of Ellenville, N.Y.

Nevele Pride finished 1½ lengths ahead of Fashion Hill, who nosed out Dart Hanover for the $30,000 second-place money. Fine Shot finished fourth followed by Keystone Spartan and Dick Daring.

Nevele Pride will be flown today to Springfield, Ill., where Dancer said the colt will start next Thursday in the Illinois Review Futurity. Then comes the Hambletonian at Duquoin, Ill. on Sunday Aug. 25.

Miami and Western Michigan have won the Mid - American Conference track title every year since the conference started the event in 1948. Miami won the first 10 years, Western Michigan won 10 years in a row and Miami won in 1968.

Olympics Virtually Sold Out

MEXICO CITY (AP) — No new applications for tickets or lodging during the 1968 Olympic Games will receive consideration until Sept. 15, if then, an Olympics' organizing committee spokesman said today.

Ramon Alatorre, whose Oficina de Control de Alojamiento handles all such applications, said in an interview today that the backlog of unprocessed applications is expected to use up all the tickets and lodging still available.

He said that as of Thursday night his office had provided lodging for 64,219 tourists expected here for the Games that begin Oct. 12. After processing the existing backlog of applications, which he said would take until Sept. 15, the committee would decide if the office should continue processing applications received between now and then.

As the situation now stands, with construction of all the major sites almost completed, there are no hotel rooms available through the office and applicants are being assigned to rooms in private houses.

Rookie Turner Fast

Bears, Under Dooley, To Challenge Packers

By JERRY LISKA
Associated Press Sports Writer

RENSSELAER, Ind. (AP) — The Chicago Bears have two distinctive changes this season, which—plus the incomparable Gale Sayers—could menace the domineering Green Pay Packers in the National Football League race.

Energetic, intense and shrewd, Jim Dooley seems bursting at the seams to make a successful debut as head coach, succeeding Bear owner George S. Halas, who retired May 27 after 40 coaching years.

The other noteworthy Bear change is a Sept. 15 NFL season opener against the Washington Redskins at Wrigley Field, the first time in history the club has not played four or five road games before enjoying the home field advantage.

Dooley, handpicked by Halas from his staff, seems cut from the same football cloth as George Allen, another top Halas aide, who ired Papa Bear by leaving the Bears to become an instant head coaching success with the Los Angeles Rams.

Dooley, apparently given free reins by Halas, already has put to work his strategem of gungho, canny football. As the Bears whipped the Dallas Cowboys 50-24 in an exhibition opener last Saturday, Dooley blended the old tight double wing and balanced T.

He also has overhauled the Bear signal calling system which he said put too much burden on the quarterbacks and often "dominated their thinking."

The new system for signal callers Jack Concannon, who should be a top NFL gunner this season, Larry Rakestraw and Rudy Bukich, will reduce the mental work load about 50 per cent, Dooley says.

"New blocking procedures also are tied in with the new signal calling routine in the huddle and scrimmage line audibles," said Dooley. "Putting this together with new shifts out of new formations, you can see we are only getting started," said Dooley.

The experimenting with various formations is aimed mainly at enhancing the running threat of Sayers, perhaps pro football's most thrilling ball carrier.

"We hope to find a way to keep the defenses from stacking on Sayers," explained Dooley. "Previously, when he ran from the slot, everybody could unload on him. Now, using Gale as a middle man behind the center, a man-in-motion, or a flanker, we may keep the defense honest."

Th victory ver the Cowboys indicated the Bears may have come up with another superstar find in Cecil Turner, track ace flanker from California Ply.

Turner, fifth draft choice and NCAA college division 100-meter champion, scored on an 88-yard opening kickoff return and a 72-yard pass from Concannon in his pro debut.

"We drafted Turner as defensive back," said Dooley. "But as soon as I saw him in rookie camp, I knew he was an offensive steal. He ought to give the opposition fits back there with Sayers on kickoffs."

The fact the world champion Packers and Bears comprise half of the NFL's four-team Central Division underscores the importance of the Bears' getting off to a home opener victory against Washington Sept. 15.

Club President (George "Mugsie" Halas Jr., said the Bear players were obviously pleased with a rare home opener. "It could be a big psychological lift for the whole season," said young Halas.

The Bears last season finished second in the Central Division behind the Packers with a 7-6-1 record, compared with Green Bay's 9-4-1. This year the Bears play at Green Bay Nov. 3 and close Dec. 15 at home against the Packers.

Dooley has a strong corps of pass receivers, defensive backs and linebackers. But he inherits Papa Bear's old problem, a dearth of running backs and offensive linemen.

Turner and rookie Bob Wallace of Texas El Paso join veterans Dick Gordon and Jimmy Jones as receivers. At tight end is seasoned Austin Denney. No. 1 draft choice, Mike Hull of Southern California, was tabbed at tight end.

But Hull may be diverted to his Trojan post, fullback, to bolster the running back department where Ronnie Bull, Ralph Kurek, Brian Piccolo and Andy Livingston still are trying to help out work-horse Sayers.

Linebackers Dick Butkus, Doug Buffone, Mike Reilly and Jim Purnell, and secondary backs Bernie McRae, Rosey Taylor, Richie Petitbon and Curtiss Gentry provide a fine defensive corps beyond the line.

Strong defensive linemen are 285-pound Frank Cornish, Dick Evey, Ed O'Bradovich and Loyd Phillips.

However, the offensive linemen including Bob Pickens, Bob Wetoska, Randy Jackson, rookie Wayne Mass of Clemson, Mike Pyle, George Seals and Jim Cadile seem faced with the biggest challenge.

Montreal Park Site Found

MONTREAL (AP) — Montreal received encouraging news Thursday night when it was announced the city and sponsors of the proposed National League baseball expansion team had reached an agreement on the site of a temporary stadium.

Montreal Mayor Jean Drapeau emerged from a marathon four-hour meeting with sponsors, city officials and a high-ranking baseball representative and issued a brief one-minute statement to waiting reporters.

"After many hours of meetings I am pleased to inform everyone that we have succeeded in reaching a formula of agreement feasible to both parties," the mayor said.

He said the agreement "implies the use of Jarry Park stadium," a huge city-owned and operated park located in the north end of Montreal.

"The city will bring the stadium up to National League standards," Mayor Drapeau said in his hand-written statement, which he read in French first and then translated into English.

He closed his brief statement by saying that further information would be made public "during the coming week."

Before making his speech, the mayor insisted that neither he nor anyone connected with Thursday night's meeting be asked any questions following his statement.

Sitting in on Thursday's meeting along with the mayor were Georges Mantha, director of Montreal's parks and playgrounds; Charles Bronfman, Sidney Maislin and Lorne Webster, sponsors of the proposed club; Gerry Snyder, vice-chairman of the city's executive committee; and John McHale, administrator in Baseball Commissioner William D. Eckert's office.

Warren Giles, president of the National League who attended all-day meetings at City Hall Wednesday, visited Jarry Park Wednesday night with McHale and Mayor Drapeau instead of returning to New York as he said he would do.

Giles returned to New York early Thursday morning but McHale remained in Montreal all day and sat in on Thursday night's marathon meeting.

The current seating capacity of the ball stadium at the enormous Jarry Park site is only 3,000 but would be expanded to about 30,000 to meet the requirements of the league.

The park, used by various city junior baseball leagues, is about 20 square city blocks in area and currently has parking facilities for about 2,600 cars.

It is located seven blocks from the nearest subway station, is serviced by city bus routes and is adjacent to a railway station.

The plan to use Jarry Park as a temporary stadium until a new stadium, possibly a domed stadium, appears to have revived the dying franchise which the city received May 27.

Dark Mirage Will Miss Alabama'Cap

By ED SCHUYLER Jr.
Associated Press Sports Writer

Three-year-old fillies will be Alabama bound Saturday, and it will be a rewarding trip for one of them because Dark Mirage, Lloyd I. Miller's miniature express, is temporarily sidetracked.

Dark Mirage suffered a bruise on the outside of her right forefoot Thursday and will not run in the 1¼-mile, $50,000-added Alabama at Saratoga.

Among those expected to go in the Alabama are Heartland, Taste, Gay Matelda and Miss Ribot.

Also on Saturday's national program are the $50,000-added William duPont Jr. Handicap on closing day at Delaware Park, the $40,000-added Laurance Armour Handicap at Arlington Park, the $25,000-added Margate Handicap for fillies and mares at Atlantic City, the $20,000-added White Mountain Handicap at Rockingham Park and the $15,000-added La Jolla Mile at Del Mar.

Olympics Virtually Sold Out

MEXICO CITY (AP) — No new applications for tickets or lodging during the 1968 Olympic Games will receive consideration until Sept. 15, if then, an Olympics' organizing committee spokesman said today.

Ramon Alatorre, whose Oficina de Control de Alojamiento handles all such applications, said in an interview today that the backlog of unprocessed applications is expected to use up all the tickets and lodging still available.

He said that as of Thursday night his office had provided lodging for 64,219 tourists expected here for the Games that begin Oct. 12. After processing the existing backlog of applications, which he said would take until Sept. 15, the committee would decide if the office should continue processing applications received between now and then.

As the situation now stands, with construction of all the major sites almost completed, there are no hotel rooms available through the office and applicants are being assigned to rooms in private houses.

Bigger Than North

South Seeks 3rd Straight Ohio All-Star Grid Win

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — The South squad will be seeking its third straight victory when scholastic standouts from northern and southern Ohio meet tonight in the 23rd annual North-South All-Star Football Game at Fawcett Stadium.

The southern contingent won 40-12 last year in the most lopsided game in the history of the series. Altogether, the South has won 11 times to nine for the North, and there have been two ties.

Bill Wilkins, who coached Shelby High to an undefeated season last year, is mentor of the North squad. He says he has been impressed by the way his charges have looked in workouts depite the heat and humidity of the last few days.

But he noted that the South "is bigger and has good talent."

If the North is to win, Wilkins declared, "we will have to outquick them and block and tackle well."

Wilkins singled out halfback Tom Campana from Kent Roosevelt and quarterback Don Lamka from Cleveland South for praise.

Key men on the line, Wilkins said, will be tackles Steve Betz of Minerva and Tom Houser of Massillon.

Dick Haines of Dover High, also undefeated last year, is coach of the South squad. He said the South will count on passing for a major portion of its offense, especially if the heat wave continues.

Handling the passing will be quarterbacks John Motil of Columbus Watterson and Mike Heizman of Colerain. The South also has a couple of outstanding backs in Harry Howard of Cincinnati Princeton, the team co-captain, and Don Osby from Steubenville. Fullbacks are Greg Harvey of Cincinnati Princeton and Dave Lowe of Zanesville. Chuck Pater from Hamilton Garfield is the other South co-captain.

Nevele Pride Easily Wins Yonkers Trot

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

YONKER,S N.Y. (AP) — That Hambletonian jinx of Stanley Dancer's will have to work overtime this year to keep the famed harness racing driver from sweeping trotting's Triple Crown.

The reason is simple. Dancer will be driving Nevele Pride, a 3-year-old colt hailed as the best trotter in the United States and "just a big frisky kid" who hasn't yet reached his full potential.

Dancer never has won the Hambletonian, sometimes called the Kentucky Derby of the sulky set, but if he misses this year with Nevele Pride it would be the greatest upset in trotting history.

Nevele Pride and Dancer easily took the first leg of the trotting Triple Crown with an easy victory in the $150,000 Yonkers Trot at Yonkers Raceway Thursday night.

Dancer merely hand-urged the son of Star's Pride-Thankful to a 2:03 3-5 mile for his 18th straight victory, 10-in-10 this year, and 36th triumph in 39 starts.

The first prize of $82,500 in the non-betting race upped Nevele Pride's earnings for the year to $224,362. Added to the $222,923 he won last year as a 2-year-old colt has earned $447,285 for co-owners Lou Resnick and the Slutsky family of Ellenville, N.Y.

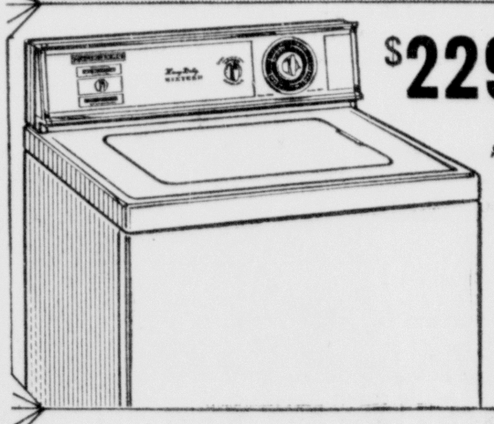

Nevele Pride finished 1½ lengths ahead of Fashion Hill, who nosed out Dart Hanover for the $30,000 second-place money. Fine Shot finished fourth followed by Keystone Spartan and Dick Daring.

Nevele Pride will be flown today to Springfield, Ill., where Dancer said the colt will start next Thursday in the Illinois Review Futurity. Then comes the Hambletonian at Duquoin, Ill. on Sunday Aug. 25.

Miami and Western Michigan have won the Mid - American Conference track title every year since the conference started the event in 1948. Miami won the first 10 years, Western Michigan won 10 years in a row and Miami won in 1968.

ANN LANDERS

Suggestion: Keep Quiet

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: The letter you printed from "Sadder but Wiser" compelled me to write this letter. She was the mousy little housewife who felt guilty about having an affair.

I'm a high school student who knows of a similiar affair — my mother's. Mom always decides to see a very late movie "alone" when Dad is out of town. Once I asked how the movie was and she got so rattled I felt sorry for her.

Recently I came home unexpectedly. (I had planned to spend the night at a girl friend's house and changed my mind.) I heard the back door slam as I came in and I smelled pipe tobacco all over the place.

This afternoon I needed 50 cents and Mom was home. I looked in Mom's coat pockets for change. To my horror I discovered a key to a local hotel.

Do I owe it to my dad to tell him? If I don't tell and they get a divorce I will always feel as though I could have helped save their marriage if I'd spoke out. — J.K.L.

-:-

Dear J.K.L.: Don't say a word. To anyone. While you may believe the evidence is conclusive, you could be wrong. And if you ARE wrong you'd be responsible for stirring up a hideous mess.

Spared The Rod

Dear Ann: We're an average family. By "average" I mean my husband and I are at the mercy of three lazy, uncooperative, smart-mouth kids.

Our daughters (age 13 and 15) keep us broke. The boy, aged 11, keeps us exhausted. My husband and I don't want to break their spirit or spoil their fun by being too demanding. I'm afraid, however, that we have been too lenient and now we can't get our kids to do anything that vaguely resembles work — either in or out of school.

Last week the kids suggested a "family jury," with each member of the family having one vote. Of course my husband and I always lose because the kids vote as a bloc. Can you help us teach these kids to be responsible citizens? — OUTVOTED.

Dear Out: The majority rule is excellent for government, but it doesn't work well in mental institutions, prisons or families with two or more children.

Adolescents not only need discipline but they want it. When children call the signals and run the family they get the impression their parents are imbeciles. Kids who do as they please are not happy — they are confused. The best way to keep your children's feet on the ground is to put some responsibility on their shoulders.

Diners Club

Dear Ann: My sister Mazie and her husband have had dinner at our house every Friday for the last six years. This means they have enjoyed 312 free meals over here.

We have been to their home for dinner htree times. (Once was when my brother-in-law's boss gave him a turkey for Christmas. Another time, my brother-in-law shot a duck. It was too gamy to eat. And once we had a Chinese dinner which they paid us to pick up on the way over.)

Last week an out-of-town aunt was having a serious operation and I offered to take care of her children. Mazie didn't invite my husband over for a single meal. This burned me up. I told my husband I'm through feeding them every Friday. He says Mazie will be mad because they have grown to expect it. How do I unwind a six-year habit? — THE CHUMP

-:-

Dear Chump: Find something else to do a few Fridays in a row and announce it well in advance. When you do invite Mazie tell her, "It's your turn next time," and put your dinners on an alternating basis.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

NUTRITION AND COLD WEATHER

Q. Does cold weather increase the body's need for vitamins and minerals? Should vitamin supplements be taken during the winter months?

A. The basic need for nutrients is no different in the winter than during the summer. Foods are the preferred sources of nutrients. An adequate diet need not be supplemented with vitamins or minerals during winter or summer.

INGROWN TOENAIL

Q. What causes ingrown toenail?

A. Improper trimming is usually responsible for ingrown toenail. Cutting the nail short and curving the edges, as is done with fingernails, allows soft tissue to roll over the nail edge when upward pressure is exerted while walking. Ingrown toenail can be prevented by allowing the nail to grow beyond the edge of the nail wall and trimming the nail straight across.

NUTRITION AND COLD WEATHER

Q. Does cold weather increase the body's need for vitamins and minerals? Should vitamin supplements be taken during the winter months?

A. The basic need for nutrients is no different in the winter than during the summer. Foods are the preferred sources of nutrients. An adequate diet need not be supplemented with vitamins or minerals during winter or summer.

INGROWN TOENAIL

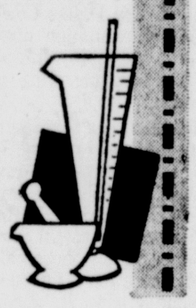

Q. What causes ingrown toenail?

A. Improper trimming is usually responsible for ingrown toenail. Cutting the nail short and curving the edges, as is done with fingernails, allows soft tissue to roll over the nail edge when upward pressure is exerted while walking. Ingrown toenail can be prevented by allowing the nail to grow beyond the edge of the nail wall and trimming the nail straight across.

Position Is Clear

Agnew For Civil Rights, Against Civil Disorders

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Gov. Spiro T. Agnew says he is for civil rights and against civil disobedience.

To Agnew, this position is clear. To some, it is a font of confusion in his new role as Republican vice presidential nominee.

Agnew swept to victory as governor of Maryland two years ago as a supporter of open housing. But he had to call out troops to quell racial rioting in Baltimore this year and he has suggested fleeing looters should be shot.

There were indications Richard M. Nixon chose the border state governor — virtually unknown nationally — as his running mate because he was acceptable to the South. Liberal Republicans forced a fore-doomed floor fight over Agnew.

Agnew, 49, tried to spell out his position twice Thursday, at a news conference shortly after his surprise selection and later in his acceptance speech after his nomination was confirmed by the convention.

"I am pro-civil rights," he told the news conference. "On the other hand, I expect fully that no civil rights can be realistically achieved without the restoration of order, without an abandonment of the condoning of civil disobediece."

To the convention, he proclaimed, "Racial discrimination, unfair and unequal education and unequal job opportunities must be eliminated no matter whom it displeases."

At the same time he said, "Anarchy, rioting and even the currently stylish civil disobedience has no part in a constitutional republic."

Agnew's record as Maryland governor is marked by controversy over these two beliefs.

He won election over an advocate of separatism in housing, helped win passage of a limited open housing law, and has come out since in support of an all-inclusive open housing guarantee.

But he tongue-lashed Negro leaders, blaming them for inaction during the Baltimore riots in April, and triggered a walkout by most of them. He also indicated looters who refuse to obey police orders to stop should be shot.

Agnew said two months ago that he would not have permitted the Poor People's Campaign to set up its shantytown in Washington. He has been questioned so often about the import of his statement on civil disorders that he has said, "I resent that my statements on law and order are interpreted to mean anti-Negro."

He told the news conference, "I will work enthusiastically in civil rights. I think that's one of the reasons I'm on this ticket."

Civic Group Maps Plans In Ohioville

A group of residents of Meadowbrook Estates, Ohioville Borough, met Thursday night at the Ohioville fire hall and formed a nonprofit organization called "The Meadowbrook Civic Organization."

All agreed on the need for forming an organization for the betterment of the community in recreational, cultural, safety and civic areas.

Temporary officers and committees named were Lawrence Novak, chairman and Mrs. Sonia Gingerella secretary-treasurer; Victor Presutti, Mrs. Evelyn McGeehan and Mrs. Maxine Poff, membership; Sam Krakoff, William Murphy, Tom McGeehan, Bud Gingerella and Mrs. Jesse Presutti, by-laws; and Tom Kraker, publicity.

The group decided to meet semi-monthly temporarily. The next meeting will be announced by a newsletter which will be delivered to each resident of Meadowbrook Estates.

There are 183 homes in the development.

'Fisticuffs' Case Planned Aug. 16

Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff today set a hearing Aug. 16 on a case in which James Cullifer of 925 Plutus Ave., Chester, is accused of challenging Victor C. Smith of Orchard Grove Ave. "to fight at fistiuffs and to provoke said Smith to commit a breach of the peace."

Cullifer, represented by George A. Aronson, pleaded not guilty at arraignment this morning. The continuance was requested by Jackman S. Vodrey, assistant city solicitor, who said one witness was unavailable for the hearing today.

Smith's affidavit alleges that the challenge was issued June 22 in front of a building at 208 E. 5th St. It also asks that the court place Cullifer under a peace bond for two years if he is convicted, alleging that Cullifer "has made other challenges to Smith and has generally harassed and attempted to intimidate" the complaining witness.

Woman Hospitalized After Area Accident

A Wintersville woman was admitted to St. John's Hospital, Steubenville, with injuries suffered in an accident about four miles north of Richmond Thursday.

Helen Berchfield, 56, of 113 Linmar Ave., Wintersville, a passenger in a 1964 coach operated by William F. Berchfield, 61, received severe head injuries. Berchfield was treated for lacerations of the head and released, the Ohio Highway Patrol at Wintersville said.

Berchfield was driving north on Route 43 at 11:20 p.m. when he skidded off the right side of the road, striking a utility pole. The auto was damaged badly.

Berchfield told the investigating officer he ran from a dry area into rainfall.

Rains Fail To Materialize

Worst Drought In Years Takes Huge Toll In Chile

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) — Chile's worst drought in a century is taking an increasing toll as hoped-for August rains fail to materialize .

Its gravest effects may come next year as underground water tables decline.

President Eduardo Frei calls the drought "a true national catastrophe" and likens its effects to those of an earthquake.

Frei's adminitration has asked for U.S. aid including food for 6,000 families.

The drought's pinch is being felt in agricultural, industrial and electrical production. The inflation-plagued economy—prices rose 22 per cent in the first seven months this year—faces further weakening.

Some social and economic reforms of Frei's Christian Democratic government may have to be shelved and funds diverted to drought relief.

Normally August is Chile's wettest month, but as the winter season below the equator wanes, rainfall decreases 75 per cent in agricultural areas. In the three farming provinces around this capital city, rainfall is off 90 per cent.

Snow pack reserves in the High Andes in the nation's center are far below normal.

Livestock has been particularly hard hit. Frei said last month that Chile has lost 300,000 lambs to the drought. To help cattle producers, the government has let them ship their stocks free by rail to suothern Chile where forage is available.

Frei's administration already has ordered cuts in consumption of water and electricity. More are on the way.

A an example, downtown Santiago soon may be without neon advertising signs and radio and television stations may limit transmission hours to save electricity.

Declining hydroelectric production endangers the vital output of copper, particularly at the rich El Teniente mine 65 miles south of Santiago.

So far Chile's Marxist parties including its strong Communist organizations have called for national unity in face of the drought.

"Before the drought, all Chileans are obligated to collaborate" says a recent edition of the Marxist publication Plan.

"The real crunch of the drought will be felt next year," says one U.S. observer.

"Underground water tables will be down and even rains in the next few months will not help much to replenish them."

To help fight the drought Chile has asked the United States for $2.7 million in well-digging equipment, electric pumps, tank trucks and refrigeration equipment.

Yugoslav Leader To Get Big Welcome In Prague

PRAGUE (AP) — Prague prepared a warm welcome for Yugoslav President Tito today to express Czechoslovakia's gratitude for his support against the Russians, Poles and East Germans.

Thousands of citizens were expected to set aside their usual weekend plans to cheer the 76-year-old apostle of independent communism who stuck by Czechoslovakia's like-minded leaders during their showdown with the orthodox Communist regimes in Moscow, Warsaw and East Berlin.

The Czechoslovak leaders were supported by Tito, the Romanian Communist leaders who rebelled against Moscow's domination months ago, and the leaders of the French and Italian Communist parties. This support and the fact that the Czechoslovak people were solidly behind their new leaders are believed to have been the decisive factors which produced the "live and let live" agreement at the Bratislava conference last weekend.

Prague newspapers prominently featured the recent declaration by Tito that he was ready to go "any time of the day or night and to any place" to support the Czechoslovak Communist party's new chief, Alexander Dubcek.

His statement came at the height of the tension between Czechoslovakia and its "northern tier" allies in the Warsaw Pact, when it appeared that the Soviets might use their troops to reverse Dubcek's program of liberal reform and reinstate the ousted Stalinist president and party leader, Antonin Novotny.

"This support at a time critical for Czechoslovakia will certainly not be forgotten," said the farmers' newspaper Zemedelske Noviny on the eve of Tito's visit.

Tito's trip to Prague had been scheduled three times during the past month but was postponed each time because of negotiations between the Czechoslovak leaders and the Moscow group. The idea was to leave the Russians some room for maneuver so that they could save as much face as possible.

He said he received a call Thursday noon from Ralph Fisher of the board, advising the money is available.

Wetzel said the consulting engineer will prepare plans and specifications for improving 1.75 miles of Route 30 from the Freeman Rd. junction eastward to the West end of the Canton Bridge at Lisbon and 2.11 miles of Route 172 from the County Home Rd. eastward to the Route 30 junction two miles west of Lisbon.

Out Of The Air

By HAL HUMPHREY

New Doctor's A Family Man

Apparently the woods are full of good Negro actors. Producers once used as an excuse for not using Negroes that there were none. But now that more and more are being employed, there seem to be plenty to choose from.

Hal Humphrey

"I'm sure others were interviewed for this job," says Percy Rodriguez, who moved into the "Peyton Place" hospital recently as a Negro neurosurgeon, following Rodney's motorcycle accident.

-:-

PERCY HAS BEEN acting on and off since his high school days in the home town of Montreal, Que., where he joined a newly organized Negro Theater Guild.

"It was a church basement group to help raise money for the church, and later in 1939 I won best actor award for the guild's production of 'Emperor Jones' at the Canadian Drama Festival.

"I stayed on my job as a machinist and toolmaker for nine years before I dared to rely on acting for a living, and there have been some lean years since then," Percy reports.

He had the advantage of being bilingual and played a French-speaking part in a Canadian TV series. During this time he also was offered another part in a weekly series.

-:-

THAT'S WHEN he decided to give up his machinist job and become a professional actor. He got his big break many years later (1960) when he played 13 months on Broadway with Jason Robards in "Toys in the Attic."

Percy soon will be seen in "The Heart Is a Lonely Hunter," the Carson McCullers movie, in which by coincidence he also plays a doctor.

Unlike some of his Negro brethren, Percy sees nothing wrong with casting Negroes in these "superman"-type roles, which some Negroes call as ridiculous as the janitor-maid roles Hollywood used to reserve exclusively for them.

-:-

"WHY SHOULDN'T I play a neurosurgeon? Let's start at the top. It's the youngsters we're trying to please. Why shouldn't they see a Negro can be a neurosurgeon?

"Nobody raised hell when Vince Edwards played one in Ben Casey. If I couldn't be a neurosurgeon in 'Peyton Place,' then they'd be saying, 'We wouldn't let him be that.' I'm going to try to be a human being, as is my family, and if that doesn't come across, then it's our fault."

In episodes beginning in October we'll see Dr. Harry Miles' (Percy Rodriguez') family. Ruby Dee, a fine actress, is his wife and Glynn Turman is a teen-aged son. There'll be problems (as there always are in "P.P."), but, as Percy says, the problems will be those of human beings.

-:-

"AS I SAID before, it's the youngsters watching TV we've got to think about. A black child now asks why he should go to school — if he can't be a cowboy or a doctor. We've got to make things so that black child won't fear the white man," Percy adds.

TV ultimately has got to reach the stage where, as Percy points out, the color of a family is unimportant. For quite a spell in Canada, Percy did a kids' show called "Follow the Leader," and he was the host. His color obviously didn't cut one way or the other.

American TV seems to be working in that direction; slowly, but it's on its way.

-:-

THE MILES FAMILY on "Peyton Place" will be the first full Negro family to appear on TV. According to Paul Monash, executive producer, Dr. Miles will be less of a doctor than a father and husband as the stories develop.

Making the Miles family real Negroes is a risk, Monash admits, but says he's had "Peyton Place" as a white Anglo-Saxon Protestant community long enough.

Percy says he's aware the role involves a multitude of "firsts," but he's concerned with his job as an actor.

"If I'm not doing the job, then I should be told to get out."

Boy Stabbed In Pittsburgh Racial Unrest

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Ballbat and chain wielding Negro youths roamed the streets in the Lincoln section of the city early today, in what police described as a "tense" situation.

One youth was stabbed. Two others suffered minor cuts. Two youths were arrested.

Police found two unignited firebombs in the area, but they reported no fires.

The trouble apparently began at the Lemington Presbyterian Church community center on Lincoln Avenue, and then dumped onto the streets.

An employe of the center, Mari Jones, said the trouble was an outgrowth of a running feud between youth at the center and a lodge of the Ancient Order of Hibernians near the center.

The stabbed youth, 18-year-old Frank Ercole was taken to Pittsburgh Hospital. He was reported in satisfactory condition with stab wounds of the back.

Two other youths were cut and treated at Shadyside Hospital and released.

Rackets Figure Cited In Assault Of Federal Agent

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Carlos Marcello, a New Orleans racket figure, was convicted Thursday of assaulting FBI agent Patrick J. Collins Jr. at the New Orleans airport.

The U.S. District Court jury of 10 men and two women deliberated almost four hours before returning the verdict.

Sentencing was set for Sept. 12 and Marcello stayed free under bond. Defense lawyers gave notice of appeal.

Witnesses testified that the incident occurred Sept. 30, 1966 after Marcello, 58, his brother Joe Marcello Jr. and his on Joe C. Marcello walked through the New Orleans Airport while being followed by news photographers. Collins and another FBI agent were in the crowd of newsmen.

Marcello has been identified by a national magazine as the New Orleans boss of the Cosa Nostra.

Conviction of assault on a federal officer carries a maximum sentence of three years. Judge John V. Singleton Jr. ordered a presentencing report on Marcello.

2 Must Pronounce Donor Dead

Medical Assembly Adopts Heart Transplant Code

By The Associated Press

The World Medical Assembly adopted a code today specifying that two doctors must pronounce the donor dead before a heart transplant or other such surgery is performed.

The action was taken in Sydney, Australia.

The assembly of 150 doctors from 63 countries adopted a "statement of death" which now becomes part of the ethics of the medical profession. But it made no attempt to give a definition of death.

"With scientific advances and new methods of resuscitation always coming up, it would be silly of us to give a definition which could be outmoded within half an hour," said Sir Leonard Mallen, president of the association.

The statement did give certain guides for doctors determining death.

It said death is a gradual process, its progress depending on the varying ability of tissues to live without oxygen.

"But clinical interest lies not in the state of preservation of isolated cells but in the fate of a person," the statement continued. "Here the point of death of different cells anl organs is not so important as the certainty that the process has become irreversible by whatever techniques of resuscitation that may be employed."

Determination of death, the statement continued, "will be based on clinical judgment supplemented if necessary by a number of diagnostic aids, of which the electroencephalograph (to measure brain waves) is currently the most helpful.

"However, no single technological criterion is entirely satisfactory in the present state of medicine nor can any one technoloigcal procedure be substituted for the over-all judgment of the physician."

Japan's first heart transplant, performed Thursday, brought a call from Health Minister Sunao Sonoda for a law governing transfer of human organs. The Japanese Cabinet approved Sonoda's proposal for a commission to study enactment of such a law, including a definition of death, pevention of traffic in human organs and qualifications of doctors to perform transplants.

Missionary Day Being Observed

The observance of Missionary Day at the Hollow Rock camp grounds got under way this morning, with various missionaries reviewing their experiences.

Talks were given this afternoon and more are due tonight, beginning at 7:30.

Last night's services attracted a large crowd, with Dr. Harold Loman of North Carolina, evangelist, delivering the sermon. He commended the choir, declaring that "Hollow Rock has the greatest choir anywhere." He was one of the soloist during the opening musical program.

It was announced that a new mimeograph machine was purchased yesterday for the staff to publish the camp's news sheet, "Glad Tidings." Miss Lois Johnson heads the staff.

Delays On Two Fronts Peril Anti-Riot Funds

WASHINGTON (AP) — Delays in Congress and the White House apparently have doomed any chance for setting up this summer a special fund to help law enforcement agencies deal with riots.

Such a fund was provided for in the omnibus crime control bill President Johnson signed into law June 19.

Although the long-range procedure for the fund is complex, the bill contained a special provision for this summer that cut through much of the red tape.

The deadline for 1968, however, was set for Aug. 31, considered a realistic date by the Senate Judiciary Committee when it drew up the provision last spring.

The deadline is now but three weeks off and the Justice Department appropriation bill financing the fund did not clear Congress until Aug. 1.

It is yet to be signed by the President.

Before funds can be passed out, however, the President also must appoint members of a new agency to receive, screen and decide on applications for aid.

The section of the crime bill containing this summer's anti-riot funds provides for grants to states and localities to help them improve law enforcement techniques and personnel.

The Senate version of the over-all crime bill came out of committee last April 29 and was passed in that chamber May 24.

Besides the program of helping law-enforcement efforts, it ping, gun controls and admissibility of voluntary confessions and other evidence.

The House passed the Senate bill intact June 6 in a reaction to the death that same day of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy of an assassin's bullet.

The President then signed the bill although expressing misgivings about the wiretapping provisions.

Meanwhile, the appropriations bill containing funds for the law-enforcement program was proceeding at a leisurely pace through a separate legislative process.

Asked about the status of the riot-control funds, a Justice Department spokesman said it did not have any to award.

And even if it did, the Law Enforcement Assistant Administration that would award them has still to be appointed and get into action.

"WHY SHOULDN'T I play a neurosurgeon? Let's start at the top. It's the youngsters we're trying to please. Why shouldn't they see a Negro can be a neurosurgeon?

"Nobody raised hell when Vince Edwards played one in Ben Casey. If I couldn't be a neurosurgeon in 'Peyton Place,' then they'd be saying, 'We wouldn't let him be that.' I'm going to try to be a human being, as is my family, and if that doesn't come across, then it's our fault."

In episodes beginning in October we'll see Dr. Harry Miles' (Percy Rodriguez') family. Ruby Dee, a fine actress, is his wife and Glynn Turman is a teen-aged son. There'll be problems (as there always are in "P.P."), but, as Percy says, the problems will be those of human beings.

"AS I SAID before, it's the youngsters watching TV we've got to think about. A black child now asks why he should go to school — if he can't be a cowboy or a doctor. We've got to make things so that black child won't fear the white man," Percy adds.

TV ultimately has got to reach the stage where, as Percy points out, the color of a family is unimportant. For quite a spell in Canada, Percy did a kids' show called "Follow the Leader," and he was the host. His color obviously didn't cut one way or the other.

American TV seems to be working in that direction; slowly, but it's on its way.

-:-

THE MILES FAMILY on "Peyton Place" will be the first full Negro family to appear on TV. According to Paul Monash, executive producer, Dr. Miles will be less of a doctor than a father and husband as the stories develop.

Making the Miles family real Negroes is a risk, Monash admits, but says he's had "Peyton Place" as a white Anglo-Saxon Protestant community long enough.

Percy says he's aware the role involves a multitude of "firsts," but he's concerned with his job as an actor.

"If I'm not doing the job, then I should be told to get out."

Boy Stabbed In Pittsburgh Racial Unrest

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Ballbat and chain wielding Negro youths roamed the streets in the Lincoln section of the city early today, in what police described as a "tense" situation.

One youth was stabbed. Two others suffered minor cuts. Two youths were arrested.

Police found two unignited firebombs in the area, but they reported no fires.

The trouble apparently began at the Lemington Presbyterian Church community center on Lincoln Avenue, and then dumped onto the streets.

An employe of the center, Mari Jones, said the trouble was an outgrowth of a running feud between youth at the center and a lodge of the Ancient Order of Hibernians near the center.

The stabbed youth, 18-year-old Frank Ercole was taken to Pittsburgh Hospital. He was reported in satisfactory condition with stab wounds of the back.

Two other youths were cut and treated at Shadyside Hospital and released.

Rackets Figure Cited In Assault Of Federal Agent

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Carlos Marcello, a New Orleans racket figure, was convicted Thursday of assaulting FBI agent Patrick J. Collins Jr. at the New Orleans airport.

The U.S. District Court jury of 10 men and two women deliberated almost four hours before returning the verdict.

Sentencing was set for Sept. 12 and Marcello stayed free under bond. Defense lawyers gave notice of appeal.

Witnesses testified that the incident occurred Sept. 30, 1966 after Marcello, 58, his brother Joe Marcello Jr. and his on Joe C. Marcello walked through the New Orleans Airport while being followed by news photographers. Collins and another FBI agent were in the crowd of newsmen.

Marcello has been identified by a national magazine as the New Orleans boss of the Cosa Nostra.

Conviction of assault on a federal officer carries a maximum sentence of three years. Judge John V. Singleton Jr. ordered a presentencing report on Marcello.

2 Must Pronounce Donor Dead

Medical Assembly Adopts Heart Transplant Code

By The Associated Press

The World Medical Assembly adopted a code today specifying that two doctors must pronounce the donor dead before a heart transplant or other such surgery is performed.

The action was taken in Sydney, Australia.

The assembly of 150 doctors from 63 countries adopted a "statement of death" which now becomes part of the ethics of the medical profession. But it made no attempt to give a definition of death.

"With scientific advances and new methods of resuscitation always coming up, it would be silly of us to give a definition which could be outmoded within half an hour," said Sir Leonard Mallen, president of the association.

The statement did give certain guides for doctors determining death.

It said death is a gradual process, its progress depending on the varying ability of tissues to live without oxygen.

"But clinical interest lies not in the state of preservation of isolated cells but in the fate of a person," the statement continued. "Here the point of death of different cells anl organs is not so important as the certainty that the process has become irreversible by whatever techniques of resuscitation that may be employed."

Determination of death, the statement continued, "will be based on clinical judgment supplemented if necessary by a number of diagnostic aids, of which the electroencephalograph (to measure brain waves) is currently the most helpful.

"However, no single technological criterion is entirely satisfactory in the present state of medicine nor can any one technoloigcal procedure be substituted for the over-all judgment of the physician."

Japan's first heart transplant, performed Thursday, brought a call from Health Minister Sunao Sonoda for a law governing transfer of human organs. The Japanese Cabinet approved Sonoda's proposal for a commission to study enactment of such a law, including a definition of death, pevention of traffic in human organs and qualifications of doctors to perform transplants.

Missionary Day Being Observed

The observance of Missionary Day at the Hollow Rock camp grounds got under way this morning, with various missionaries reviewing their experiences.

Talks were given this afternoon and more are due tonight, beginning at 7:30.

Last night's services attracted a large crowd, with Dr. Harold Loman of North Carolina, evangelist, delivering the sermon. He commended the choir, declaring that "Hollow Rock has the greatest choir anywhere." He was one of the soloist during the opening musical program.

It was announced that a new mimeograph machine was purchased yesterday for the staff to publish the camp's news sheet, "Glad Tidings." Miss Lois Johnson heads the staff.

Delays On Two Fronts Peril Anti-Riot Funds

WASHINGTON (AP) — Delays in Congress and the White House apparently have doomed any chance for setting up this summer a special fund to help law enforcement agencies deal with riots.

Such a fund was provided for in the omnibus crime control bill President Johnson signed into law June 19.

Although the long-range procedure for the fund is complex, the bill contained a special provision for this summer that cut through much of the red tape.

The deadline for 1968, however, was set for Aug. 31, considered a realistic date by the Senate Judiciary Committee when it drew up the provision last spring.

The deadline is now but three weeks off and the Justice Department appropriation bill financing the fund did not clear Congress until Aug. 1.

It is yet to be signed by the President.

Before funds can be passed out, however, the President also must appoint members of a new agency to receive, screen and decide on applications for aid.

The section of the crime bill containing this summer's anti-riot funds provides for grants to states and localities to help them improve law enforcement techniques and personnel.

The Senate version of the over-all crime bill came out of committee last April 29 and was passed in that chamber May 24.

Besides the program of helping law-enforcement efforts, it ping, gun controls and admissibility of voluntary confessions and other evidence.

The House passed the Senate bill intact June 6 in a reaction to the death that same day of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy of an assassin's bullet.

The President then signed the bill although expressing misgivings about the wiretapping provisions.

Meanwhile, the appropriations bill containing funds for the law-enforcement program was proceeding at a leisurely pace through a separate legislative process.

Asked about the status of the riot-control funds, a Justice Department spokesman said it did not have any to award.

And even if it did, the Law Enforcement Assistant Administration that would award them has still to be appointed and get into action.

Vets Hear Talk By Nils Johnson

CANFIELD — Nils Johnson, local attorney and former judge of the Seventh District Court of Appeals seeking re-election to the appellate bench, was guest speaker when the Senior Veterans (World War I group) held a dinner meeting Thursday noon at the Dublin Grange.

Johnson spoke on "Justice Must Prevail," emphasizing the need for law and order.

Ralph Reddington of Columbiana presided in the absence of Harry Ferrall of Leetonia RD 1, president, who is confined to his home by illness.

Russell Peppel of Lisbon is in charge of arrangements for the next dinner meeting Sept. 12 at Legion Post 275 in Lisbon.

Junior Editors Quiz on CLOTH

QUESTION: Where do we get cloth? Every little thread couldn't have been woven together!

* * *

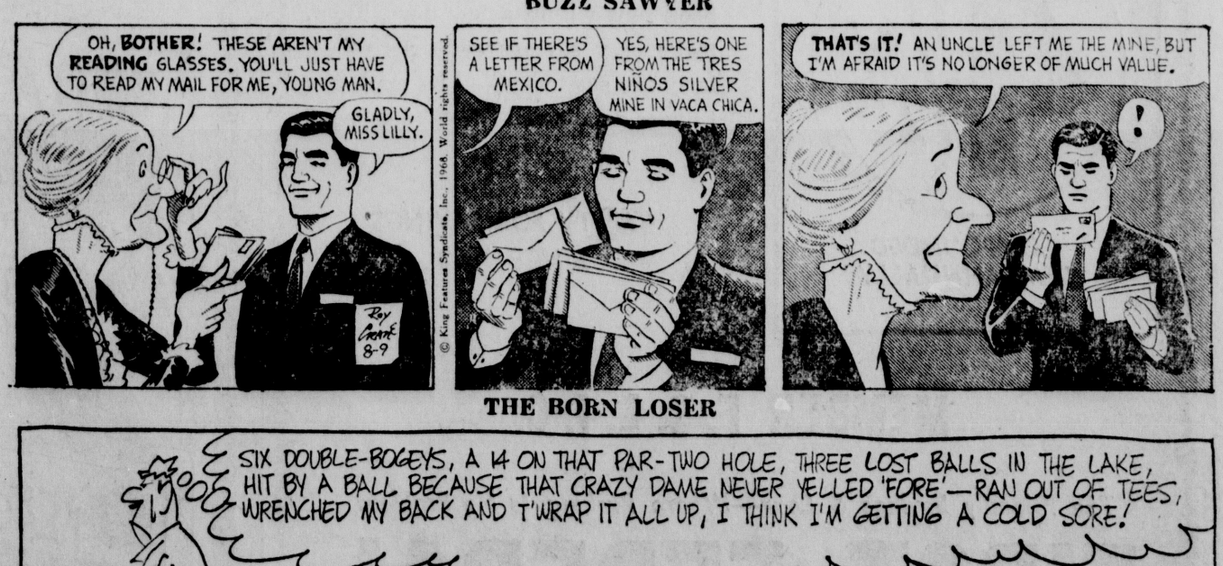

ANSWER: The threads in a piece of cloth HAVE been woven together. Study (1). See the 3 loops of string going up and down. These represent the warp threads in weaving. There is another thread going crosswise; this is the weft. From lower left, it goes over one warp thread, under the next, over the next, and so on. In (2), the weft has been pushed down until tight; the result is cloth. But the process of interweaving the weft thread by hand was very slow; as a result, the loom was invented. The simplified loom process is shown in (3) and (4). In (3) we see the warp threads stretching across; the cloth is being wound up on the roller. Every other thread passes through the eye of a heddle, lower left. When all the heddles are lifted up, an opening is formed called a shed, (4). Through this, a shuttle, comtaining the weft thread, is passed or thrown. There is a second set of heddles, which now lift the threads not previously lifted. The shuttle is thrown back through this second shed. This is the great weaving principle, used in hand looms and also in the huge power looms which make almost all the cloth we actually use.

(Colleen Lewis of Sacramento, Calif., wins a prize for this question. You can win $10 cash plus AP's handsome World Yearbook if your question, mailed on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of this newspaper, is selected for a prize.)

HINTS FROM HELOISE

Clean Trailer Air Vents

DEAR HELOISE: How do you clean the vent in the ceiling of a travel trailer that's the little window on top with the screen and glass cover that opens to let the air out.

HENRY.

-:-

Henry, believe it or not — and my name is not Ripley — I do have the answer. Don't touch it with any liquid or solvent. Take a dry, old terrycloth washrag and gently wipe in one direction ONLY. Be sure and hold a newspaper beneath it. All of the lint and dust that has adhered to the screen will roll off like bullets.

Heloise

After you get nearly all of it off, then rub the screen in the other direction.

And you know what else I found out? When it catches leaves on top of the screen, if you open the vent real wide and blow hard, those leaves will fly out.

This saves you from climbing on top of the trailer to clean out that trap.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: Plastic sandwich bags are wonderful to keep kids and husbands clean while eating drippy sandwiches like hamburgers.

I just serve the sandwiches tucked halfway into a bag and all the "drippings" fall back into the bag.

No more mesy tables or stained shirts for me.

NANCY.

Letter Of Laughter

DEAR HELOISE: Isn't it enjoyable to have company? But, oh, how wonderful it is when they leave!

Am I getting old and set in my routine?

S.

DEAR HELOISE: Can you tell me if it is wise to dump coffee grains in the sink? For years I've heard conflicting stories on this and would really like to know the right answer.

E. A. SHAFFER.

-:-

So would I! Come on. Some plumber's wife can surely get the answer from her husband and let us know. PLEASE!

Just write to me in care of this paper.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: After I remove my sleeveless dresses that have cloth belts, I take the belt buckle and fasten it through the armhole.

Then I am not searching through the closet or belt rack for the belt to match that dress when I need it.

G. D.AGE 11.

DEAR HELOISE: Eureka! I just discovered my electric deep-fat fryer can serve another purpose—blanching my fresh garden vegetables and fruit!

The basket more than holds a pound of vegetables and the fryer holds a gallon of water. The water reboils so rapidly after plunging the vegetables into the already boiling water and makes this procedure so much faster and easier.

Just remember when doing your blanching to start counting time AFTER the wate rreboils.

Try it and you'll agree it's great.

MRS. ROBERT MAXFIELD.

DEAR HELOISE: I liked the hint on making a toilet brush holder out of a coffee can, but I improved on it a little by using two, one-pound coffee cans.

I removed the top and bottom from one can and taped it on top of another can with only the top cut off. Then I covered this two-deep can with a pretty yellow pattern of adhesive-backed plastic and cut a hole in a plastic lid for the brush handle to come through.

A piece of foil in the bottom of the can retards rusting.

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Friday, Aug. 9, the 222nd day of 1968. There are 144 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1945, the second atomic bomb was dropped on Japan, wiping out more than half the city of Nagasaki and killing almost 40,000 persons.

On this date:

In 1898, Spain formally accepted peace terms ending the Spanish-American War.

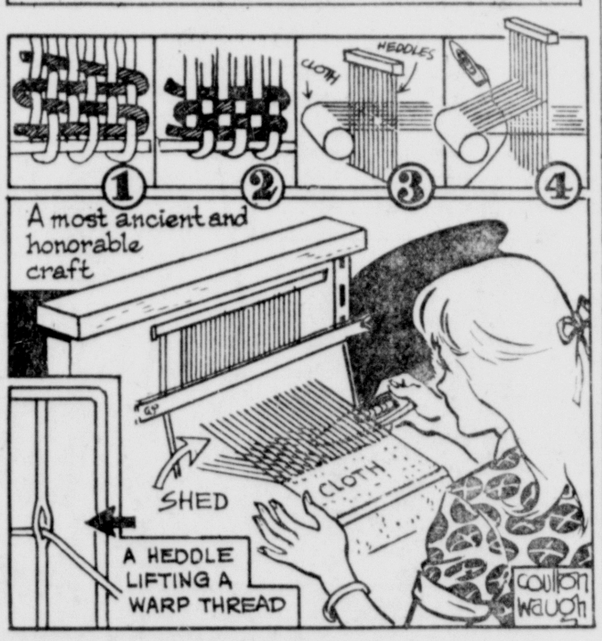

In 1954, the French arrested more than 1,000 persons after two days of rioting in Morocco.

Ten years ago: A tense situation was building up between the Chinese Communists and Nationalists in the Formosa Strait.

Five years ago: The two-day-old son of President and Mrs. John F. Kennedy, Patrick Bouvier Kennedy, died in a Boston hospital.

One year ago: Fighting broke out in Colombia as national police moved to crush the largest underworld in Latin America.

Junior Editors Quiz on CLOTH

QUESTION: Where do we get cloth? Every little thread couldn't have been woven together!

* * *

ANSWER: The threads in a piece of cloth HAVE been woven together. Study (1). See the 3 loops of string going up and down. These represent the warp threads in weaving. There is another thread going crosswise; this is the weft. From lower left, it goes over one warp thread, under the next, over the next, and so on. In (2), the weft has been pushed down until tight; the result is cloth. But the process of interweaving the weft thread by hand was very slow; as a result, the loom was invented. The simplified loom process is shown in (3) and (4). In (3) we see the warp threads stretching across; the cloth is being wound up on the roller. Every other thread passes through the eye of a heddle, lower left. When all the heddles are lifted up, an opening is formed called a shed, (4). Through this, a shuttle, comtaining the weft thread, is passed or thrown. There is a second set of heddles, which now lift the threads not previously lifted. The shuttle is thrown back through this second shed. This is the great weaving principle, used in hand looms and also in the huge power looms which make almost all the cloth we actually use.

(Colleen Lewis of Sacramento, Calif., wins a prize for this question. You can win $10 cash plus AP's handsome World Yearbook if your question, mailed on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of this newspaper, is selected for a prize.)
